Critical Posthumanism and Planetary Futures Debashish Banerji, Makarand R. Paranjape, 2016-10-07 This volume is a critical exploration of multiple posthuman possibilities in the 21st century and beyond Due to the global engagement with advanced technology we are witness to a species wise blurring of boundaries at the edge of the human On the one hand we find ourselves in a digital age in which human identity is being transformed through networked technological intervention a large part of our consciousness transferred to smart external devices On the other hand we are assisted or assailed by an unprecedented proliferation of quasi human substitutes and surrogates forming a spectrum of humanoids with fuzzy borders Under these conditions critical posthumanism asks who will occupy and control our planet Will the superhuman merely serve as another sign under which new regimes of dominance are spread across the earth Or can we discover or invent technologies of existence to counter such dominance It is issues such as these which are at the heart of this new volume of explorations of the posthuman The essays in this volume offer leading edge thought on the subject with special emphases on postmodern and postcolonial futures They engage with questions of subalternity and feminism vis vis posthumanism dealing with issues of subjugation dispensability and surrogacy as well as the possibilities of resistance ethical politics or subjective transformation from South Asian archives of cultural and spiritual practice This volume is a valuable addition to the on going global dialogues on posthumanism indispensable to those from across several disciplines who are interested in postcolonial and planetary futures

The Digital Age and Its Discontents Matteo Stocchetti, 2020-08-11 Three decades into the digital age the promises of emancipation of the digital revolution in education are still unfulfilled Furthermore digitalization seems to generate new and unexpected challenges for example the unwarranted influence of digital monopolies the radicalization of political communication and the facilitation of mass surveillance to name a few This volume is a study of the downsides of digitalization and the re organization of the social world that seems to be associated with it In a critical perspective technological development is not a natural but a social process not autonomous from but very much dependent upon the interplay of forces and institutions in society While influential forces seek to establish the idea that the practices of formal education should conform to technological change here we support the view that education can challenge the capitalist appropriation of digital technology and therefore the nature and direction of change associated with it This volume offers its readers intellectual prerequisites for critical engagement It addresses themes such as Facebook s response to its democratic discontents the pedagogical implications of algorithmic knowledge and quantified self as well as the impact of digitalization on academic profession Finally the book offers some elements to develop a vision of the role of education what should be done in education to address the concerns that new communication technologies seem to pose more risks than opportunities for freedom and democracy
