Tacitus, Annals, 15.20-23, 33-45 Mathew Owen, Ingo Gildenhard, 2013-09-23 The emperor Nero is etched into the Western imagination as one of ancient Rome's most infamous villains and Tacitus Annals have played a central role in shaping the mainstream historiographical understanding of this flamboyant autocrat. This section of the text plunges us straight into the moral cesspool that Rome had apparently become in the later years of Nero's reign, chronicling the emperor's fledgling stage career including his plans for a grand tour of Greece, his participation in a city-wide orgy climaxing in his publicly consummated marriage to his toy boy Pythagoras, the great fire of AD 64 during which large parts of central Rome went up in flames and the rising of Nero's grotesque new palace, the so-called Golden House, from the ashes of the city. This building project stoked the rumours that the emperor himself was behind the conflagration and Tacitus goes on to present us with Nero's gruesome efforts to quell these mutterings by scapegoating and executing members of an unpopular new cult then starting to spread through the Roman empire: Christianity. All this contrasts starkly with four chapters focusing on one of Nero's most principled opponents, the Stoic senator Thrasea Paetus, an audacious figure of moral fibre who courageously refuses to bend to the forces of imperial corruption and hypocrisy. This course book offers a portion of the original Latin text, study aids with vocabulary and a commentary. Designed to stretch and stimulate readers, Owen's and Gildenhard's incisive commentary will be of particular interest to students of Latin at both A2 and undergraduate level. It extends beyond detailed linguistic analysis and historical background to encourage critical engagement with Tacitus' prose and discussion of the most recent scholarly thought.

Daughter of the Burning City Amanda Foody, 2017-07-25 From the New York Times bestselling coauthor of All of Us Villains, sixteen-year-old Sorina has spent most of her life within the smoldering borders of the Gomorrah Festival. Yet even among the many unusual members of the traveling circus city, Sorina stands apart as the only illusion worker born in hundreds of years. This rare talent allows her to create illusions that others can see, feel, and touch with personalities all their own. Her creations are her family, and together they make up the cast of the Festival's Freak Show. But no matter how lifelike they may seem, her illusions are still just that: illusions and not truly real. Or so she always believed, until one of them is murdered. Desperate to protect her family, Sorina must track down the culprit and determine how they killed a person who doesn't actually exist. Her search for answers leads her to the self-proclaimed gossip worker Luca. Their investigation sends them through a haze of political turmoil and forbidden romance and into the most sinister corners of the Festival. But as the killer continues murdering Sorina's illusions one by one, she must unravel the horrifying truth before all her loved ones disappear.

Garbage Land Elizabeth Royte, 2007-10-15 Out of sight, out of mind. Into our trash cans go dead batteries, dirty diapers, bygone burritos, broken toys, tattered socks, eight-track cassettes, scratched CDs, banana peels. But where do these things go next? In a country that consumes and then casts off more and more what actually happens to the things we throw away? In Garbage Land, acclaimed science writer Elizabeth Royte leads us on the wild adventure that begins
