City Publics The Disenchantments Of Urban Encounters Questioning Cities:

City Publics Sophie Watson, 2013-02-01 Some cities have grown into mega cities and some into uncontrolled sprawl others have seen their centres decline with populations moving to the suburbs In such times questions of the public realm and public space in cities warrant even greater attention than previously received Concerned with the borders and boundaries constraints and limits on accepting acknowledging and celebrating difference in public Sophie Watson through ethnographic studies interrogates how difference is negotiated and performed Focusing on spaces where to outside observers tension is relatively absent or invisible Watson also reveals how the boundaries between the public and private are being negotiated and redrawn and how public and private spaces are mutually constitutive Through her investigation of the more ordinary and less dramatic forms of encounter and contestation in the city Watson is able to conceive an urban public realm and urban public space that is heterogeneous and potentially progressive With numerous photographs and drawings City Publics not only throws new light on encounters with others in public space but also destabilizes dominant sometimes simplistic universalized accounts and helps us re imagine urban public space as a site of potentiality difference and enchanted encounters

Public Space Design and Social Cohesion Patricia Aelbrecht, Quentin Stevens, 2019-01-22 Social cohesion is often perceived as being under threat from the increasing cultural and economic differences in contemporary cities and the increasing intensity of urban life Public space in its role as the main stage for social interactions between strangers clearly plays a role in facilitating or limiting opportunities for social cohesion But what exactly is social cohesion how is it experienced in the public realm and what role can the design of city spaces have in supporting or promoting it There are significant knowledge gaps between the social sciences and design disciplines and between academia and practice and thus a dispersed knowledge base that currently lacks nuanced insight into how urban design contributes to social integration or segregation This book brings together scholarly knowledge at the intersection of public space design and social cohesion It is based on original scholarly research and a depth of urban design practice and analyses case studies from a variety of cities and cultures across the Global North and Global South Its interdisciplinary cross cultural analysis will be of interest to academics students policymakers and practitioners engaged with a range of subject areas including urban design urban planning architecture landscape cultural studies human geography social policy sociology and anthropology It will also have significant appeal to a wider non academic readership given its topical subject matter
