Coastal Lagoons In Europe Integrated Water Resource Strategies Water Research:

Coastal Lagoons in Europe Geoffrey D. Gooch, 2015-07-15 Lagoons represent nearly 13% of the shoreline globally and around 5% in Europe Coastal lagoons are shallow water bodies separated from the ocean by a barrier e.g. narrow spit connected at least intermittently to the ocean by one or more restricted inlets and usually geographically oriented parallel to the shore line Coastal lagoons are flexible and usually able to cope with environmental change yet nowadays they are under threat This is partly due to climate change impacts for example sea level rise and hydro meteorological extreme events but also due to more direct human activities and pressures The book focuses on addressing these challenges through integrated management strategies seen in a land sea and science stakeholder policy perspective Pan European management challenges are seen from the context of the perspectives of Policy Environment and Modelling Four case study lagoons in different geographical locations in Europe provide examples of some of the practical experiences and results around these challenges Possible impacts on drainage basins and lagoons are introduced through integrated scenarios which were developed through a multi science and land lagoon science perspective combined with interactions and contributions from stakeholders and citizens Issues around climate change impacts on environmental conditions in both drainage basins and lagoons are also included The book derives from a collaborative EC funded project entitled Integrated Water Resources and Coastal Zone Management in European Lagoons in the Context of Climate Change comprising nine partner institutes with a wide diversity in the scientific disciplines covered Editors Ana I Lillebo University of Aveiro Portugal Per Stalnacke Bioforsk Norwegian Institute for Agricultural and Environmental Research Norway Geoffrey D Gooch University of Dundee Scotland UK
