Miller, 2013-11-21 These are exciting times for manufacturing engineers It has been said that American industry will undergo greater changes during the 1980 and 1990 decades than it did during the entire eight preceding decades of this century The industrial robot has become the symbol of this progress in computer integrated manufacturing This book is for engineers and managers in manufacturing industries who are involved in implementing robotics in their operations With tens of thousands of industrial robots already in use in the United States there are plenty of role models for proposed applications to be patterned after This book provides an overview of robot applications and presents case histories that might suggest applications to engineers and managers for implementation in their own facilities The application of industrial robots were well developed in the late 1970s and early 1980s While the reader may note some of the examples discussed in this handbook incorporate older robot models it is the application that is of interest As Joseph Engelberger the founding father of robotics has pointed out industrial robots in 1988 are doing pretty much the same kind of work as they did in 1980 Standard Handbook of Industrial Automation Douglas M. Considine, Glenn D. Considine, 2012-12-06 The authors and editors of this Handbook have attempted to fill a serious gap in the professional literature on industrial automation Much past attention has been directed to the general concepts and philosophy of automation as a way to convince owners and managers of manufacturing facilities that automation is indeed one of the few avenues available to increase productivity and improve competitive position Seventy three contributors share their knowledge in this Handbook Less attention has been given to the What and How of automation To the extent feasible and practical within the confines of the pages allowed this Handbook concentrates on the implementation of automation Once the Go signal has been given by management concrete details not broad definitions and philosophical discussions are required To be found in this distinctly different book in the field are detailed parameters for designing and specifying equipment the options available with an evaluation of their relative advantages and limitations and insights for engineers and production managers on the operation and capabilities of present generation automation system components subsystems and total systems In a number of instances the logical extension of current technology into the future is given A total of 445 diagrams and photos and 57 tables augments detailed discussions In Computer-Integrated Manufacturing Handbook V.D. Hunt, 2012-12-06 Manufacturing has entered the early stages of a revolutionary period caused by the convergence of three powerful trends The rapid advancement and spread of manufacturing capabilities worldwide has created intense competition on a global scale The emergence of advanced manufacturing technologies is dramatically changing both the products and processes of modern manufacturing Changes in traditional management and labor practices organizational structures and decision making criteria represent new sources of competitiveness and introduce new strategic opportunities These trends are interrelated and their effects are already being felt by the U.S. manufacturing community Future competitiveness for manufacturers worldwide will depend on their response to these trends Based on the recent performance of U.S. manufacturers efforts to respond to the challenges posed by new competition technology and managerial opportunities have been slow and inadequate Domestic markets that were once secure have been assailed by a growing number of foreign competitors producing high quality goods at low prices In a number of areas such as employment capacity utilization research and development expenditures and capital investment trends in U.S. manufacturing over the last decade have been unfavorable or have not kept pace with major foreign competitors such as Japan There is substantial evidence that many u s manufacturers have neglected the manufacturing function have overemphasized product development at the expense of process improvements and have not begun to make the adjustments that will be necessary to be competitive
