Romantic Conventions Anne K. Kaler, 1999 Finding that romance novels are an important literary genre not only because they comprise nearly half of paperback fiction sold but also because they employ sympathetic values and identifiable conventions critics present 12 studies analyzing a selection of specific conventions patterns themes and images and trace them back to origins in folktales or fairy tales and back again to the latest adaptations available in the supermarkets No index Paper edition 778 0 21 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Building Fiction Jesse Lee Kercheval, 2003 No one looks at structure like Jesse Lee Kercheval She builds a work of fiction just as an architect would design a house with an eye for details and how all parts of a story or novel interconnect Even with the most dynamic language images and characters no piece of fiction will work without a strong infrastructure Kercheval shows how to build that structure using such tools as point of view characterization pacing and flashbacks Building Fiction will help you envision the landscape of your fiction and build great stories there

Not a Simple Story Sharon M. Green, 2001-10-01 Not a Simple Story presents the modern Hebrew writer Shmuel Yosef Agnon in a new light as an artist cum thinker whose novels and short stories manifest a deep understanding of the social and political crisis at the heart of modern Jewish life Based on a close reading of Agnon's seminal novel A Simple Story the book argues that Agnon was essentially a Jewish nationalist and secular modernist whose critical portrait of modern Jewish life seeks not to demean Jews but to hold them to a higher standard By demonstrating all that Jewish society lacks Agnon implicitly shows what it needs for it to thrive a return to such lost notions as Jewish self respect heroism and romantic love Sharon Green's scholarly critique of this modern Hebrew classic offers students of Jewish studies a unique opportunity to penetrate the literary enigma Agnon has represented for almost a century

Expanding Austenland Áine Madden,2024-01-13 Expanding Austenland: The Pride and Prejudice Fanfiction Archive explores Jane Austen s reception in popular culture through an exploration of the ever expanding terrain of online fanfiction professionally published profic texts and other intertextual reworkings inspired by the author s most popular novel Pride and Prejudice The book argues that given its pervasiveness Pride and Prejudice could be usefully considered not as a single novel but as an entire archive of interrelated texts or as a portal that opens a virtual world for readers to expand and explore By examining the Pride and Prejudice archive of interrelated texts this book analyses the process through which an individual novel can develop a virtual life or afterlife The evolving world that is opened by Pride and Prejudice and extended and enriched through fanfiction is conceptualised in the monograph as Austenland

Writing the Materialities of the Past Sam Griffiths,2021-06-14 Writing the Materialities of the Past offers a close analysis of how the materiality of the built environment has been repressed in historical thinking since the 1950s Author Sam Griffiths argues that the social theory of cities in this period was characterised by the dominance of socio economic and linguistic cultural models which served to impede our understanding of time space relationality towards historical events and their narration The book engages with studies of historical writing to discuss materiality in the built environment as a form of literary practice to express marginalised dimensions of social experience in a range of historical contexts It then moves on to reflect on England s nineteenth century industrialization from an architectural topographical perspective challenging theories of space and architecture to examine the complex role of industrial cities in mediating social changes in the practice of everyday life By demonstrating how the authenticity of historical accounts rests on materially emplaced narratives Griffiths makes the case for the emancipatory possibilities of historical writing He calls for a re evaluation of historical epistemology as a primarily socio scientific or literary enquiry and instead proposes a specifically architectural time space figuration of historical events to rethink and refresh the relationship of the urban past to its present and future Written for postgraduate students researchers and academics in architectural theory and urban studies Griffiths draws on the space syntax tradition of research to explore how contingencies of movement and encounter construct the historical imagination
