Libraries, 1921 One-Volume Libraries: Composite and Multiple-Text Manuscripts Michael Friedrich, Cosima Schwarke, 2016-11-07 Composite and multiple text manuscripts are traditionally studied for their individual texts but recent trends in codicology have paved the way for a more comprehensive approach Manuscripts are unique artefacts which reveal how they were produced and used as physical objects While multiple text manuscripts codicologically are to be considered as production units i.e. they were originally planned and realized in order to carry more than one text composites consist of formerly independent codicological units and were put together at a later stage with intentions that might be completely different from those of its original parts Both sub types of manuscripts are still sometimes called miscellanies a term relating to the texts only The codicological difference is important for reconstructing why and how these manuscripts which in many cases resemble or contain a small library were produced and used Contributions on the manuscript cultures of China India Africa the Islamic world and European traditions lead not only to the conclusion that one volume libraries have been produced in many manuscript cultures but allow also for the identification of certain types of uses The Americana, 1923 Monthly Bulletin St. Louis Public Library, 1912 T. Hart, 2016-05-09 One of the most influential voices in contemporary theology delivers a deeply original meticulously written new approach to the way we think about God Jack Miles author of God A Biography In this long awaited work Ray L Hart offers a radical speculative theology that profoundly challenges classical understandings of the divine God Being Nothing contests the conclusions of numerous orthodoxies through a probing question How can thinking of God reach closure when the subjects of creation are themselves unfinished when God's self revelation in history is ongoing and when the active manifestation of God is still occurring A renowned theologian and author of the landmark text Unfinished Man and the Imagination Ray L Hart now asks us to imagine God perpetually in process an unfinished God being self created from nothingness Breaking away from the traditional focus on divine persons Hart reimagines the Trinity in terms of theogony cosmogony and anthropogony in order to reveal an ever emerging Godhead who encompasses all of temporal creation and within it human existence In Hart's stunning vision God's continual generation from nothing manifests the full actualization of freedom the freedom to create ex nihilo Harvard University Bulletin, 1889 Bulletin of the Public Library of the City of Boston ...
