Air Power in the Age of Total War John Buckley, 2006-05-09 Warfare in the first half of the 20th century was fundamentally and irrevocably altered by the birth and subsequent development of air power This work assesses the role of air power in changing the face of battle on land and sea Utilizing late 1990s research the author demonstrates that the phenomenon of air power was both a cause and a crucial accelerating factor contributing to the theory and practice of total war For instance the expansion of warfare to the homefront was a direct result of bombing and indirectly due to the extent of national economic mobilization required to support first rate air power status In addition the move away from the principle of total war with the onset of the Cold War and the replacement of air power by ICBMs is thoroughly examined This work should provide students of international history war studies defence and strategic studies with an insight into 20th century warfare

Mansoor, 2012-07-09 Hybrid warfare has been an integral part of the historical landscape since the ancient world but only recently have analysts incorrectly categorised these conflicts as unique Great powers throughout history have confronted opponents who used a combination of regular and irregular forces to negate the advantage of the great powers superior conventional military strength As this study shows hybrid wars are labour intensive and long term affairs they are difficult struggles that defy the domestic logic of opinion polls and election cycles Hybrid wars are also the most likely conflicts of the twenty first century as competitors use hybrid forces to wear down America s military capabilities in extended campaigns of exhaustion Nine historical examples of hybrid warfare from ancient Rome to the modern world provide readers with context by clarifying the various aspects of conflicts and examining how great powers have dealt with them in the past
