Datums And Map Projections For Remote Sensing Gis And Surveying Second Edition:

Datums and Map Projections for Remote Sensing, GIS, and Surveying Jonathan Iliffe, 2000 New methods of acquiring spatial data and the advent of geographic information systems GIS for handling and manipulating data mean that we no longer must rely on paper maps from a single source but can acquire combine and customize spatial data as needed To ensure quality results however one must fully understand the diverse coordinate frameworks upon which the data are based Datums and Map Projections provides clear accessible explanations of the terminology relationships transformations and computations involved in combining data from different sources The first half of the book focuses on datums exploring different coordinate systems and datums including two and three dimensional representations of Earth coordinates and vertical datums After an overview of the global positioning system GPS the author introduces the fundamentals of map projections and examines the different types He then presents models and procedures for transforming directly between data sets The final chapter presents case studies of projects that illustrate the types of problems often encountered in practice Newcomers to the field will welcome this treatment that instead of detailed mathematics uses lucid explanations and numerous examples to unravel the complexities of the subject For more experienced readers the book is a valuable reference that answers specific questions and imparts a better understanding of transformation operations and principles Features

Datums and Map Projections for Remote Sensing, GIS, and Surveying Jonathan C. Iliffe, Roger Lott, 2008 Making Maps, Second Edition John Krygier, Denis Wood, 2011-04-15 Acclaimed for its innovative use of visual material this book is engaging clear and compelling exactly how an effective map should be Nearly every page is organized around maps and other figures many in full color that illustrate all aspects of map making including instructive examples of both good and poor design choices The book covers everything from locating and processing data to making decisions about layout symbols color and type Readers are invited to think critically about both the technical features and social significance of maps as they learn to create better maps of their own New to This Edition Extensively revised and expanded core chapters on map design An annotated map design exemplar is used to show how the concepts in each chapter play out on an actual map Updated to reflect current technological developments Larger size and redesigned pages make the book even more user friendly

Image Processing and GIS for Remote Sensing Jian Guo Liu, Philippa J. Mason, 2016-01-04 Following the successful publication of the 1st edition in 2009 the 2nd edition maintains its aim to provide an application driven package of essential techniques in image processing and GIS together with case studies for demonstration and guidance in remote sensing applications The book therefore has a 3 in 1 structure which pinpoints the intersection between these three individual disciplines and successfully draws them together in a balanced and comprehensive manner The book conveys in depth knowledge of image processing and GIS techniques in an accessible and comprehensive manner with clear explanations and conceptual illustrations used throughout to enhance student learning The understanding of key concepts is always emphasised with minimal assumption of prior mathematical experience The book is heavily based on the authors own research Many of the author designed image processing techniques are popular around the world For instance the SFIM technique has long been adopted by ASTRIUM for mass production of their standard Pan sharpen imagery data The new edition also includes a completely new chapter on subpixel technology and new case studies based on their recent research
