Contesting Caprivi Contesting Caprivi:

Contesting Caprivi Bennett Kangumu, 2011 The author traces the politics of the people in Caprivi since 19th century. Neglected by Germany and South African colonial administrations its inhabitants were often pushed towards neighbouring territories though not being an integral part of them

Contesting Caprivi Bennett Kangumu, 2011-12-29 Caprivi the remote and narrow Namibian strip of land encapsulated by neighbouring Angola Zambia and Botswana has a contested colonial and postcolonial history Bennett Kangumu traces the politics of its people in this complex borderlands since the late 19th century. Neglected by German and South African colonial administrations its inhabitants were often pushed towards neighbouring territories though not being an integral part of them. At the same time South African apartheid and homeland politics emphasised the ethnization of local identities. Becoming a strategic location in the ensuing liberation wars of the late 20th century its history is often one of conquest and resistance plunder betrayal and rivalry. Kangumu shows how the inhabitants of Caprivi responded in various ways notably in the form of regional nationalism when the Caprivi African National Union CANU was formed in the early 1960s. The Union's merger with the dominant Namibian liberation movement SWAPO was a claim to end separation and isolation which however flared up again in post colonial Namibia

Inlands Robert S. G. Fletcher, Alec Zuercher Reichardt, 2024-12-31 Conventional narratives of empires and globalization focus on oceans and coasts supposing that global connections are seaborne and that historical change proceeds inward from port cities into continental expanses. This book offers a new perspective examining key inland areas around the world to show how interior regions have shaped global history. Inlands brings together an interdisciplinary group of experts to explore the modern histories of inland regions across North and South America Africa Eurasia and Australasia from the American heartland to the Yangtze valley the Great Dismal Swamp to the Arabian Desert. Together they argue that interior regions provide a fresh vantage point from which to rethink the history of global connection and disconnection. Each chapter reconsiders national regional or imperial histories from an inland perspective demonstrating how such places have spurred global change. Contributors reveal the critical role inlands and their Indigenous inhabitants have played in the development projection and contestation of state power showing how some interiors became essential to empire even as others developed in resistance to it. By examining the struggle to integrate inland regions into wider networks of exchange this book also sheds light on the unevenness and the limits of contemporary globalization. A new global history of interior spaces Inlands presents a bold challenge to dominant understandings of the making of today's connected world

Indigenous Knowledge of Namibia Chinsembu, Kazhila C., Cheikh Youssef, Ahmad, 2016-01-29 Indigenous knowledge is the dynamic information base of a society facilitating communication and decision making. It is the cornerstone of many modern day innovations in science and technology. It is also a ready and valuable resource for sustainable and resilient livelihoods and attracts increasing public interest due to its applications in bio technology health bioprospecting pharmaceuticals agriculture food preparation mathematics and astronomy INDIGENOUS KNOWLEDGE OF NAMIBIA is a fascinating compendium aimed at a wide readership of academics and students government officials policy makers and development partners The 17 chapters examine the indigenous knowledge of medicinal plants for treating HIV AIDS malaria cancer and other microbial infections of humans and livestock indigenous foods coping and response strategies in dealing with human wildlife conflicts floods gender climate change and the management of natural resources A new rationalisation of adolescent customary and initiation ceremonies is recommended in response to the HIV AIDS pandemic and a case study of the San people of Namibia speaks to the challenges of harmonising modern education with that of indigenous people Ruling Nature, Controlling People

Luregn Lenggenhager,2018-09-17 Recent nature conservation initiatives in Southern Africa such as communal conservancies and peace parks are often embedded in narratives of economic development and ecological research They are also increasingly marked by militarisation and violence In Ruling Nature Controlling People Luregn Lenggenhager shows that these features were also characteristic of South African rule over the Caprivi Strip region in North Eastern Namibia especially in the fields of forestry fisheries and ultimately wildlife conservation In the process the increasingly internationalised war in the region from the late 1960s until Namibias independence in 1990 became intricately interlinked with contemporary nature conservation ecology and economic development projects By retracing such interdependencies Lenggenhager provides a novel perspective from which to examine the history of a region which has until now barely entered the focus of historical research He thereby highlights the enduring relevance of the supposedly peripheral Caprivi and its military scientific and environmental histories for efforts to develop a deeper understanding of the ways in which apartheid South Africa exerted state power National Liberation in Post-Colonial Southern Africa Christian A.

Williams,2015-10-08 Williams traces the South West Africa People s Organization of Namibia across three decades in exile in Tanzania Zambia and Angola Secessionism in African Politics Lotje de Vries,Pierre Englebert,Mareike

Schomerus,2018-08-20 Secessionism perseveres as a complex political phenomenon in Africa yet often a more in depth analysis is overshadowed by the aspirational simplicity of pursuing a new state Using historical and contemporary approaches this edited volume offers the most exhaustive collection of empirical studies of African secessionism to date The respected expert contributors put salient and lesser known cases into comparative perspective covering Biafra Katanga Eritrea and South Sudan alongside Barotseland Cabinda and the Comoros among others Suggesting that African secessionism can be understood through the categories of aspiration grievance performance and disenchantment the book s analytical framework promises to be a building block for future studies of the topic Disputed Archival Heritage James Lowry,2022-10-10 Disputed Archival Heritage brings important new perspectives into the discourse on displaced archives In contrast to shared or joint heritage framings the book considers the implications of force violence and loss in the displacement of archival heritage With chapters from established and emerging scholars in archival studies Disputed

Archival Heritage extends and enriches the conversation that started with the earlier volume Displaced Archives Advancing novel theories and methods for understanding disputes and claims over archives the volume includes chapters that focus on Indigenous records in settler colonial states literary and community archives sub national and private sector displacements successes in repatriating formerly displaced archives comparisons with cultural objects seized by colonial powers and the relationship between repatriation and reparations Analysing key concepts such as joint heritage and provenance the contributors unsettle Western understandings of records place and ownership Disputed Archival Heritage speaks to the growing interest in shared archival heritage repatriation of cultural artefacts and cultural diasporas As such it will be a useful resource for academics students and practitioners working in the field of archives records and information management as well as cultural property and heritage management peace and conflict studies and international law

The Politics of Nature and Science in Southern Africa Maano Ramutsindela, Giorgio Miescher, 2016-08-12 This book brings together recent and ongoing empirical studies to examine two relational kinds of politics namely the politics of nature i e how nature conservation projects are sites on which power relations play out and the politics of the scientific study of nature These are discussed in their historical and present contexts and at specific sites on which particular human environment relations are forged or contested This spatio temporal juxtaposition is lacking in current research on political ecology while the politics of science appears marginal to critical scholarship on social nature Specifically the book examines power relations in nature related activities demonstrates conditions under which nature and science are politicised and also accounts for political interests and struggles over nature in its various forms The ecological socio political and economic dimensions of nature cannot be ignored when dealing with present day environmental issues Nature conservation regulations are concerned with the management of flora and fauna as much as with humans Various chapters in the book pay attention to the ways in which nature science and politics are interrelated and also co constitutive of each other They highlight that power relations are naturalised through science and science related institutions and projects such as museums botanical gardens wetlands parks and nature reserves
