Contesting Global Values Transnational Social Movements Confront The Neoliberal Order:

Contesting Global Values Mahmoud Nimir Musa, 2011 How should the world be organized And how should values be prioritized There is an ongoing struggle between two visions one advocating a world economic system and the other a global society On the one hand are the transnational corporations and the politicians supporting them who are continuously working to gain access to cheap labor natural resources markets and the promotion of a culture of consumerism On the other hand are workers and citizens who seek to place human rights norms the well being of the individual and environmental sustainability at the center of policy While the global Neoliberal network is rich in resources densely organized and rather clear in its goals its rival is resource poor and faces many challenges Can human rights peace and international law women's and workers rights networks coalesce into a global justice movement Can the global North South gap be bridged And what organizational forms should be employed What contributed to the growth of transnational social movements during the last two decades and how does this episode of contention differ from others in history The book first develops a conceptual framework for understanding the two competing networks and the world political system in which they operate This is followed by elaborating five of the major social movements human rights environmental justice women's rights labor solidarity and development The third part discusses the opportunities and challenges facing the global justice movement

Transnational Agrarian Movements Confronting Globalization Saturnino M. Borras, Jr., Marc Edelman, Cristóbal Kay, 2009-02-23 Readers of this book will encounter peasants and farmers who struggle at home and traverse national borders to challenge the World Trade Organization and other powerful global institutions Studies the activists in Brazil who uproot plots of genetically modified soybeans forest dwellers in Indonesia who chop down rubber plantations to cultivate rice to feed their families runaway villages in China that take up arms to resist corrupt officials and Mexican migrants who having exited in desperation return from abroad to transform their communities Little known transnational agrarian movements of the early twentieth century share the stage with more recent high profile global alliances such as V a Campesina Celebrates a dynamic sector of international civil society and tackles the thorny questions of successes and failures ethical and political dilemmas troubled alliances with NGOs protest repertoires and representation claims Analyzes contemporary collective action in all its complexity acknowledging ambiguities and contradictions posing challenging questions and providing concrete strategies for scholars and activists

Social Movements for Global Democracy Jackie Smith, 2008-02-04 Honorable Mention 2010 Book Award Global Division Society for the Study of Social Problems Honorable Mention 2010 PEWS Book Award Political Economy of the World System section of the American Sociological Association This groundbreaking study sheds new light on the struggle to define the course of globalization Synthesizing extensive research on transnational activism Social Movements for Global Democracy shows how transnational networks of social movement activists democratic globalizers have worked to promote human rights and ecological sustainability over the predominant neoliberal system of economic integration Using case studies of recent and ongoing campaigns for global justice Jackie Smith provides valuable insight into whether and how these activists are succeeding She argues that democratic globalizers could be more effective if they presented a united front organized around a global vision that places human rights and ecological stability foremost and if they were to directly engage governments and the United Nations Illuminating the deep seated struggles between two visions of globalization Smith reveals a network of activists who have long been working to democratize the global political system Globalization and Social Movements Valentine M. Moghadam,2008-10-17 This clear and concise book examines the crucial relationship between globalization and social movements Deftly combining nuanced theory with rich empirical examples leading scholar Valentine M Moghadam focuses especially on three transnational social movements Islamism feminism and global justice Defining globalization as a complex process in which the mobility of capital peoples organizations movements and ideas takes on an increasingly transnational form the author shows how both physical and electronic mobility has helped to create dynamic global social movements Globalization has engendered the spread of neoliberal capitalism across the world but it also has engendered opposition and collective action

International Institutions and Power Politics Anders Wivel,T.V. Paul,2019-10-01 This book moves scholarly debates beyond the old question of whether or not international institutions matter in order to examine how they matter even in a world of power politics Power politics and international institutions are often studied as two separate domains but this is in need of rethinking because today most states strategically use institutions to further their interests Anders Wivel T V Paul and the international group of contributing authors update our understanding of how institutions are viewed among the major theoretical paradigms in international relations and they seek to bridge the divides Empirical chapters examine specific institutions in practice including the United Nations International Atomic Energy Agency and the European Union The book also points the way to future research International Institutions and Power Politics provides insights for both international relations theory and practical matters of foreign affairs and it will be essential reading for all international relations scholars and advanced students Globalization and Social Movements P. Hamel,H. Lustiger-Thaler,J. Pieterse,S. Roseneil,2001-10-16 An inspiring collection that uses case studies and theoretical reflection to contextualise the linkages between collective action theories social movement practices and the phenomenon of globalisation All of the perspectives presented will force a rethink of the exact meaning of globalisation and the way in which such insights can be used to advance understanding of basic transformations occurring in the diverse world of the twenty first century The Developing World and State Education Dave Hill,Ellen Roskam,2009-01-13 Neoliberalism has had a major impact on schooling and education in the Developing World with social repercussions that have affected the salaries of teachers the number and type of potential students the availability of education the cost of education and more This edited collection argues that the privatization of public services and the capitalization and commodification of education have resulted in the establishment of competitive markets that are marked by selection exclusion and inequality The contributors academics and organization social movement activists examine aspects of neoliberal arguments focusing on low and middle income countries including Chile Mexico Argentina Venezuela China Pakistan India Turkey Burkina Faso Mozambique and South Africa and suggest where they fall short Their arguments center around the assumption that education is not a commodity to be bought and sold as education and the capitalist market hold opposing goals motivations methods and standards of excellence

Gender Orders Unbound? Ilse Lenz,Charlotte Ullrich,Barbara Fersch,2007-05-24 The book shows the new gender orders emerging on private and public levels as the old patterns of the industrial era are left behind Yearbook of International Organizations 2004/2005 Union of International Associations,2004 Transnational Legal Activism in Global Value Chains Miriam Saage-Maaß,Peer Zumbansen,Michael Bader,Palvasha Shahab,2021-08-01 This open access book documents and analyses the various interventions legal political and even artistic that followed the Ali Enterprises factory fire in Karachi Pakistan in 2012 It illuminates the different substantive and procedural aspects of the legal proceedings and negotiations between the various local and transnational actors implicated in the Ali Enterprises fire as well as the legal and policy reforms sparked by the incident This endeavour serves to embed these legal cases and reform efforts in the larger context of human and labour rights protection and global value chain governance It also offers a concrete case study relevant for ongoing debates around the role of transnational approaches in making human rights litigation advocacy and law reform more effective In this regard the book interrogates and critically reflects on such legal campaigns and local and transnational reform work with a view to future transformative legal and social activism
