Contextualizing the Body, 2025-10-27 The new cultural history has rendered the historical epistemology of the human body a privileged site for scholarly intervention in social anthropology and other related disciplines As a cultural metaphor as manifestation of lived experience as medium of existential encounter with the outer world and as a surface of social calligraphy the human body spans varied categories of the extant strands of contemporary hermeneutic discourses The essays in the present volume regard the human body more as a social subject than a social object The volume accommodates variegated encounters of the biological body with the exterior world mostly from an Indian standpoint The authors have explored the varied experiences of being embodied the social subject s interactions with the surrounding context as also its role as carrier of cultural social and symbolical agents While exploring the various contours of the corporeal self the authors have captured fascinating glimpses of the representative body The present volume does not claim to represent a comprehensive account of body history It is rather an incoherent bundle of scholarly conceptualizations of the human body discursively shaped to facilitate practices of knowledge production Lagos Kaye Whiteman, 2013-10-21 Lagos is one of the fastest growing cities in the world expected in some projections to have a population of 25 million by 2025 This will make it the biggest metropolis in sub Saharan Africa and possibly the world s third largest city This phenomenal and continuing growth gives it a heady turbulence especially as it only took on the form of a coherent urban entity in the eighteenth century After Nigeria s independence Lagos remained both trading hub and for thirty years a federal capital and political vortex Now its driving sense of can do its outreach and vitality make it a fulcrum and a channel for commercial and cultural talent Kaye Whiteman explores a city that has constantly re invented itself from the first settlement on an uninhabited island to the creation of the port in the early years of the twentieth century Lagos is still defined by its curious network of islands and lagoons where erosion and reclamation lead to a permanently shifting topography but history has thrust it into the role of a burgeoning mega city overcoming all nature's obstacles The city's melting pot has fertilised a unique literary and artistic flowering that is only now beginning to be appreciated by a world that has only seen slums and chaos COLONIAL CITY Portuguese influences the 1861 Treaty of Cession and the British colonialists architectural traces schools and government buildings the move towards independence CITY OF ENTREPRENEURS trading through the centuries Sierra Leoneans and Brazilians traditional markets and modern malls the Central Business District THE CITY OF WORDS AND MUSIC a counterpoint to the alleged philistinism of its businessmen the views of writers Wole Soyinka and Chinua Achebe artist and sculptor Ben Enwonwu the musical genius Fela Kuti
