Levine, Joyce Munsch, 2010-09-16 Although the field of child and adolescent development seems to be an easy one in which to provide active learning opportunities to students few textbooks currently exist that actually do this Child Development

Thomas J. Berndt, 1997 Exceptional Child Education Resources ,2000 Authentic Assessment of the Young Child Margaret B. Puckett, Janet K. Black, 2000 This book is not for the tired and timid but for those committed professionals who wish to think through a plan that is coherent cohesive learner and family focused and work through the development of a defensible reliable and valid authentic assessment system Discusses emerging research in the area of brain development research and its implication for assessment practices Provides information on the standards movement and how these standards can have either a negative or positive impact on developmental goals Adds a developmental continuum as an appendix to help teachers focus on emerging development rather than on perceived deficits in children Provides an added chapter on portfolio systems Places more emphasis on the discussions of diversity and inclusion For educators and school administrators

Children and Their Development Robert V. Kail, 1998 Children and their development are the topics of this volume It focuses on research cultural perspectives real life case studies and the application of theory and research to improve children s lives

Child Development Danuta Bukatko, Marvin W. Daehler, 2004 Child Development covers all ages through adolescence focusing on a distinct domain of developmental psychology in every chapter and emphasizing theory and research In order to help students think like researchers the authors present a thematic approach that consistently ties findings to the six themes underlying the study of human development the role of nature and nurture the influence of sociocultural context the active role of the child continuous vs stage like development the interaction of various domains of development and the prominence of individual differences in development
