Rethinking Language Use in Digital Africa Leketi Makalela, Goodith White, 2021-06-23 This book challenges the view that digital communication in Africa is limited and relatively unsophisticated and questions the assumption that digital communication has a damaging effect on indigenous African languages The book applies the principles of Digital African Multilingualism DAM in which there are no rigid boundaries between languages The book charts a way forward for African languages where greater attention is paid to what speakers do with the languages rather than what the languages look like and offers several models for language policy and planning based on horizontal and user based multilingualism The chapters demonstrate how digital communication is being used to form and sustain communication in many kinds of online groups including for political activism and creating poetry and offer a paradigm of language merging online that provides a practical blueprint for the decolonization of African languages through digital platforms This book is open access under a CC BY NC ND licence

Music Radio Morten Michelsen,Mads Krogh,Steen Kaargaard Nielsen,Iben Have,2018-12-27 Why is music so important to radio This anthology explores the ways in which musical life and radio interact overlap and have influenced each other for nearly a century One of music radio s major functions is to help build smaller or larger communities by continuously offering broadcast music as a means to create identity and senses of belonging Music radio also helps identify and develop musical genres in collaboration with listeners and the music industry by mediating and by gatekeeping Focusing on music from around the world Music Radio discusses what music radio is and why or for what purposes it is produced Each essay illuminates the intricate cultural processes associated with music and radio and suggests ways of working with such complexities

Diaspora Online Ruxandra Trandafoiu,2013-04-01 After the fall of the Iron Curtain in 1989 millions of Romanians emigrated in search of work and new experiences they became engaged in an interrogation of what it meant to be Romanian in a united Europe and the globalized world Their thoughts feelings and hopes soon began to populate the virtual world of digital and mobile technologies This book chronicles the online cultural and political expressions of the Romanian diaspora using websites based in Europe and North America Through online exchanges Romanians perform new types of citizenship articulated from the margins of the political field The politicization of their diasporic condition is manifested through written and public protests against discriminatory work legislation mobilization lobbying cultural promotion and setting up associations and political parties that are proof of the gradual institutionalization of informal communications Online discourse analysis supplemented by interviews with migrants poets and politicians involved in the process of defining new diasporic identities provide the basis of this book which defines the new cultural and political practices of the Romanian diaspora

Identity, Diaspora and Return in American Literature Maria Antònia Oliver-Rotger, 2014-09-19 This volume combines literary analysis and theoretical approaches to mobility diasporic identities and the construction of space to explore the different ways in which the notion of return shapes contemporary ethnic writing such as fiction ethnography memoir and film Through a wide variety of ethnic experiences ranging from the Transatlantic Asian American Latino a and Caribbean alongside their corresponding forms of displacement political exile war trauma and economic migration the essays in this collection connect the intimate experience of the returning subject to multiple locations historical experiences inter subjective relations and cultural interactions They challenge the idea of the narrative of return as a journey back to the untouched roots and home that the ethnic subject left behind Their diacritical approach combines on the one hand a sensitivity to the context and structural elements of modern diaspora and on the other an analysis of the individual psychological processes inherent to the experience of displacement and return such as nostalgia memory and belonging In the narratives of return analyzed in this volume space and identity are never static or easily definable rather they are in process and subject to change as they are always entangled in the historical and inter subjective relations ensuing from displacement and mobility This book will interest students and scholars who wish to further explore the role of American literature within current debates on globalization migration and ethnicity

The Internet and Formations of Iranian American-ness Donya Alinejad, 2017-03-02 This book explores how the children of Iranian immigrants in the US utilize the internet and develop digital identities Taking Los Angeles the long time media and cultural center of Iranian diaspora as its ethnographic field site it investigates how various web platforms are embedded within the everyday social cultural and political lives of second generation Iranian Americans Donya Alinejad unpacks contemporary diasporic belonging through her discussion of the digital mediation of race memory and long distance engagement in the historic Iranian Green Movement The book argues that web media practices have become integral to Iranian American identity formation for this generation and introduces the notion of second generation digital styles to explain how specific web applications afford new stylings of diaspora culture
