Cornerstone Connection:

The Wisdom of the Wise H. Drake Williams, III, 2018-06-19 Paul's Jewish background and his use of Scripture have been enduring interest within New Testament scholarship. This study contributes to this discussion by examining the presence and function of Scripture in I Cor 1:18-3:23. The author examines the presence and function of Scripture in the form of six citations, two allusions, and seven echoes within I Cor 1:19-3:23. From the examination of the function of these texts, this work concludes that Paul's use of Scripture agrees with its original context and stands in line with a majority of early Jewish tradition. Moreover, this study suggests that Paul's use of Scripture also helps to chart a way through a difficult section of his writing.

Congregational Music-Making and Community in a Mediated Age Anna E. Nekola, Tom Wagner, 2016-05-23 Congregational music can be an act of praise, a vehicle for theology, an action of embodied community, as well as a means to a divine encounter. This multidisciplinary anthology approaches congregational music as media in the widest sense, as a multivalent communication action with technological, commercial, political, ideological, and theological implications, where processes of mediated communication produce shared worlds and beliefs. Bringing together a range of voices promoting dialogue across a range of disciplines, each author approaches the topic of congregational music from his or her own perspective, facilitating cross-disciplinary connections while also showcasing a diversity of outlooks on the roles that music and media play in Christian experience. The authors break important new ground in understanding the ways that music, media, and religious belief and praxis become lived theology in our media age, revealing the rich and diverse ways that people are living, experiencing, and negotiating faith and community through music.
