Taking stock of IFPRI's experience with country programs Hazell, Peter B.R., Place, Frank M., Tollens, Eric, 2019-01-16 IFPRI commissioned this study to assess how the country programs CPs are performing which approaches and methods are producing the best outcomes across countries and over time to identify factors that promote or impede their progress and lessons for making them more impactful in the future The study has two major components The first is a survey and analysis of the factors that CP leaders perceived to have most helped them influence host country policies We interviewed all current and most past CP leaders which enabled us to compile evidence from recent CP experiences as well as from the 1980s and 1990s We focused on the lessons they drew from their past successes that shed light on how to make their other activities successful We did not undertake similar interviews on failed efforts because it is much harder to elicit such information from CP leaders Additional insights about unsuccessful activities are however captured in the second component of the study a commissioned external evaluation of the performance of a sample of ongoing country programs Ideally the external evaluation would have included CPs in both Africa and Asia but this was not possible with the available budget We therefore settled for an evaluation of CPs in Africa south of the Sahara Doing so had two advantages 1 the African CPs are more homogenous in terms of their objectives structure and internal IFPRI management making comparisons among them more insightful and 2 the budget was sufficient to both include all the African CPs in some of the analyses and allow the external evaluator to visit three of them

The Development Potential of Regional Programs World Bank. Independent Evaluation Group, 2007 The need to promote increased trade prevent the spread of HIV AIDS and ensure adequate water resources are some of the development challenges generating interest in increased regional and sub regional cooperation This evaluation seeks to provide guidance on when it is desirable for the Bank to support activities on a regional level and
