Nancy J. Turner

Cold Comfort McGill Queens Native And Northern Series:

Cold Comfort Graham W. Rowley, 1996-06-11 Rowley documents an era of arctic exploration of which little has been written and which is fast passing from living memory He captures the traditional way of life in the North before the dramatic changes of the last half century A member of the last expedition in the Canadian North to depend on traditional techniques Rowley recounts how they lived as the Inuit did and travelled by dogsled over unexplored land He describes the isolation the extraordinary vicissitudes of travel in a sometimes savage environment and the generosity and kindness of the Inuit Apart from completing the map of Baffin Island's coastline and finding new islands Rowley excavated the first pure Dorset site near Igloolik establishing the Dorset culture beyond doubt The carvings and artifacts found there illustrations of which are included in this book remain among the best and most beautiful that have been recovered Based on his own diary and the diaries of other members of the expedition Rowley's captivating story presents the perceptions of a young man faced with a completely alien yet fascinating environment and culture A true and often exciting tale of discovery Cold Comfort will appeal to a wide audience as well as to those concerned with the Arctic in general It is an invaluable source for those who specialize in the archaeology anthropology geography and history of northern Canada Cold Comfort, Second Edition Graham

Rowley, 2007-10-10 In 1936 Graham Rowley went to the still unexplored west coast of Baffin Island as the archaeologist for a small British expedition the last in the Canadian North that depended on traditional techniques Cold Comfort his acclaimed memoir of this period captures the way of life in the North before World War II including the experience of travelling by dogsled over unexplored land This new edition includes the beginning of Rowley's planned sequel covering his post war experiences in the Arctic The additional three chapters describe Operation Musk Ox the first military exercise to show that it was feasible to manoeuvre in the Arctic even in winter and Rowley's work for the Canadian Defense Research Board An afterword by Susan Rowley and John Bennett expands on Rowley's ongoing involvement in the rapid change that took place from the Cold War to the establishment of Nunavut Studying Arctic Fields Richard C. Powell, 2017-12-12 A study of social and cultural life at a scientific research station in the Arctic Images of Justice Dorothy Eber, 1997-09-26 In a display case at the entrance to the Yellowknife courthouse are a collection of fourteen Inuit carvings that represent landmark cases in the legal history of the Northwest Territories These cases which came to trial between 1955 and 1970 and the carvings that represent them illuminate a pivotal period of social change when the Inuit camp system was eroding and age old practices and traditions were being called into question Dorothy Harley Eber tells the stories behind the carvings and provides fascinating insights into the unique situations that developed as the Inuit came in contact with Canada's justice system

Travellers through Empire Cecilia Morgan, 2017-11-08 An exploration of Indigenous people's experiences travelling from Canada to Britain and beyond from the 1770s to 1914 Ancient Pathways, Ancestral Knowledge Nancy J.

Turner, 2014-06-01 Volume 1 The History and Practice of Indigenous Plant Knowledge Volume 2 The Place and Meaning of

Plants in Indigenous Cultures and Worldviews Nancy Turner has studied Indigenous peoples knowledge of plants and environments in northwestern North America for over forty years In Ancient Pathways Ancestral Knowledge she integrates her research into a two volume ethnobotanical tour de force Drawing on information shared by Indigenous botanical experts and collaborators the ethnographic and historical record and from linguistics palaeobotany archaeology phytogeography and other fields Turner weaves together a complex understanding of the traditions of use and management of plant resources in this vast region She follows Indigenous inhabitants over time and through space showing how they actively participated in their environments managed and cultivated valued plant resources and maintained key habitats that supported their dynamic cultures for thousands of years as well as how knowledge was passed on from generation to generation and from one community to another To understand the values and perspectives that have guided Indigenous ethnobotanical knowledge and practices Turner looks beyond the details of individual plant species and their uses to determine the overall patterns and processes of their development application and adaptation Volume 1 presents a historical overview of ethnobotanical knowledge in the region before and after European contact The ways in which Indigenous peoples used and interacted with plants for nutrition technologies and medicine are examined Drawing connections between similarities across languages Turner compares the names of over 250 plant species in more than fifty Indigenous languages and dialects to demonstrate the prominence of certain plants in various cultures and the sharing of goods and ideas between peoples She also examines the effects that introduced species and colonialism had on the region s Indigenous peoples and their ecologies Volume 2 provides a sweeping account of how Indigenous organizational systems developed to facilitate the harvesting use and cultivation of plants to establish economic connections across linguistic and cultural borders and to preserve and manage resources and habitats Turner describes the worldviews and philosophies that emerged from the interactions between peoples and plants and how these understandings are expressed through cultures stories and narratives Finally she explores the ways in which botanical and ecological knowledge can be and are being maintained as living adaptive systems that promote healthy cultures environments and indigenous plant populations Ancient Pathways Ancestral Knowledge both challenges and contributes to existing knowledge of Indigenous peoples land stewardship while preserving information that might otherwise have been lost Providing new and captivating insights into the anthropogenic systems of northwestern North America it will stand as an authoritative reference work and contribute to a fuller understanding of the interactions between cultures and ecological systems

Uqalurait John Bennett, Susan Diana Mary Rowley, 2004 Uqalurait pointed snowdrifts formed by Arctic blizzards would tell us which direction to go in says elder Mariano Aupilarjuk This oral history guided by the traditional knowledge of Inuit elders from across Nunavut also follows the uqalurait with thousands of quotes from elders on a wide range of subjects

True Spirit and Original Intent of Treaty 7 Walter Hildebrandt, Dorothy First Rider, Sarah Carter, 1996 There are several historical accounts of the Treaty 7 agreement between the government and prairie First

Nations but none from the perspective of the aboriginal people involved In spite of their perceived silence however the elders of each nation involved have maintained an oral history of events passing on from generation to generation many stories about the circumstances surrounding Treaty 7 and the subsequent administration of the agreement The True Spirit and Original Intent of Treaty 7 gathers the collective memory of the elders about Treaty 7 to provide unique insights into a crucial historical event and the complex ways of the aboriginal people Alone in Silence Barbara E. Kelcy,2001-09-21 Kelcey details their struggles with the domestic realities of setting up a home or living in the hostile conditions imposed by the geography as well as their need to adjust the way they worked The rich sources left by Christian missionaries provide details of missionary women caught up in the zeal of their vocation but held within the confines of a paternal church The letters and reports of the Grey Nuns who worked alongside the Oblate Fathers in the Mackenzie indicate the hardships imposed by their situation but also show how driven they were by their missionary purpose Alone in Silence is the first book to address the anonymity of European women in the north Kelcey draws from a diverse field of sources making use of published and primary sources so scattered that there has been no previous sense of collective memories By giving voice to this neglected group she offers a unique perspective on the vast literature on life in the north Eighteenth-Century Naturalists of Hudson Bay Stuart Houston,Tim Ball,Mary Houston,2003-10-23 The authors show that meteorologic data and weather information recorded at the HBC trading posts over two centuries provide the largest and longest consecutive series available anywhere in North America one that can help us understand the mechanisms and amount of climate change They demonstrate that Hudson Bay is the second largest site of new bird species named by Linnaeus and reproduce some of George Edwards colour paintings of these new species Six informative appendices reveal how the invaluable HBC archives were transferred from London England to Winnipeg correct previous misinterpretations of the collaboration and relative contributions of Thomas Hutchins and Andrew Graham use two centuries of HBC fur returns to demonstrate the ten year hare and lynx cycles tell how the swan trade almost extirpated the Trumpeter Swan explain how the Canada Goose got its name before there was a Canada and offer an extensive list of eighteenth century Cree names for birds mammals and fish Informative tables list the eighteenth century surgeons at York Factory and give names and dates for the annual supply ships
