The Oxford Handbook of Terrorism Erica Chenoweth, Richard English, Andreas Gofas, Stathis N. Kalyvas, 2019-03-14 The Oxford Handbook of Terrorism systematically integrates the substantial body of scholarship on terrorism and counterterrorism before and after 9/11. In doing so it introduces scholars and practitioners to state of the art approaches, methods and issues in studying and teaching these vital phenomena. This Handbook goes further than most existing collections by giving structure and direction to the fast growing but somewhat disjointed field of terrorism studies. The volume locates terrorism within the wider spectrum of political violence instead of engaging in the widespread tendency towards treating terrorism as an exceptional act. Moreover the volume makes a case for studying terrorism within its socio-historical context. Finally the volume addresses the critique that the study of terrorism suffers from lack of theory by reviewing and extending the theoretical insights contributed by several fields including political science, political economy, history, sociology, anthropology, criminology, law, geography and psychology. In doing so the volume showcases the analytical advancements and reflects on the challenges that remain since the emergence of the field in the early 1970s.

Alternative Governance in the Northern Triangle and Implications for U.S. Foreign Policy Douglas Farah, Carl Meacham, 2015-10-06 This study examines different forms of alternative governance in the absence of a strong state presence in the Northern Triangle of Central America along part of the Guatemala-Honduras border, a region notorious for its soaring homicide rates, corruption, violence and emigration to the United States. The purpose of the study is to shed light on the complex and interwoven issues that drive the current crisis of governance in the region and spill over with increasing frequency into strategic issues for the United States.

Central Asia in the Era of Sovereignty Daniel L. Burghart, Theresa Sabonis-Helf, 2018-03-16 After twenty-five years of independence there is little doubt that the five Central Asian states will persist as sovereign independent states. They increasingly differ from each other and are making their way in global politics. No longer connected only to Russia they are now connected in important ways to Afghanistan, South Asia, China, Iran and each other. This volume covers a wide range of issues and presents the work of emerging scholars, authors well known for their expertise in the region. The first part addresses social issues. Covering a wide range from HIV/AIDS to social media, the rebirth of Islam, outmigration and problematic borders, this section follows two main currents: political development in the region and states' responses to transboundary challenges. The second part addressing economics and security provides analyses of new infrastructure, informal economies from bazaars to criminal networks, energy development, the role of enclaves in the Ferghana Valley and the development of the states' military structures. This section illuminates the interactions between economic developments and security and the forces that could undermine both The final part comprised of five case studies offers a deeper dive into a specific factor that matters in the development of each Central Asian state These cases include Kazakhstan s foreign policy identity Kyrgyzstan s domestic politics Tajikistan s pursuit of hydropower foreign direct investment in Turkmenistan and the perception of everyday corruption in Uzbekistan Narcoterrorism and Impunity in the Americas Robert J. Bunker, John P. Sullivan, 2016-10-06 The fifth Small Wars Journal El Centro anthology spans online journal and blog writings for all of 2015 with a thematic focus on narcoterrorism and impunity in the Americas This anthology is composed of an About SWJ and Foundation section a memorial to our friend and colleague George W Grayson an acronym listing a foreword an introduction twenty eight chapters a postscript anthology notes and notes on its twenty three academic governmental and professional contributors
