Nonverbal Communication Across Disciplines: Paralanguage, kinesics, silence, personal and environmental interaction Fernando Poyatos, 2002 In a progressive and systematic approach to communication and always through an interdisciplinary and cross cultural perspective this first volume presents culture as an intricate grid of sensible and intelligible sign systems in space and time identifying the semiotic and interactive problems inherent in intercultural and subcultural communication according to verbal nonverbal cultural fluency The author lays out fascinating complexity of our direct and synesthetic sensory perception of people and artifactual and environmental elements and its audible and visual manifestations through our speaking face to then acknowledge the triple reality of discourse as verbal language paralanguage kinesics which is applied through two realistic models a for a verbal nonverbal comprehensive transcription of interactive speech and b for the implementation of nonverbal communication in foreign language teaching The author presents his exhaustive model of nonverbal categories for a detailed analysis of normal or pathological behaviors in any interactive or noninteractive manifestation and based on all the previous material his equally exhaustive structural model for the study of conversational encounters which suggests many applications in different fields such as the intercultural and multisystem communication situation developed in simultaneous or consecutive interpreting 956 literary quotations from 103 authors and 194 works illustrate all the points discussed Courtroom Talk and Neocolonial Control Diana Eades, 2008-09-25 The book uses critical sociolinguistic analysis to examine the social consequences of courtroom talk The focus of the study is the cross examination of three Australian Aboriginal boys who were prosecution witnesses in the case of six police officers charged with their abduction The analysis reveals how the language mechanisms allowed by courtroom rules of evidence serve to legitimize neocolonial control over Indigenous people In the propositions and assertions made in cross examination and their adoption by judicial decision makers the three boys were constructed not as victims of police abuse but rather in terms of difference deviance and delinquency This identity work addresses fundamental issues concerning what it means to be an Aboriginal young person as well as constraints about how to perform or live this identity and the rights to which Aboriginal people can lay claim while legitimizing police control over their freedom of movement Understanding this courtroom talk requires analysis of the sociopolitical and historical actions and structures within which the courtroom hearing was embedded Through this analysis the interrelatedness of structure agency constraint and change which is central to critical sociolinguistics becomes apparent In its investigation of language ideologies that underpin courtroom talk as well as the details of how language is used and the social consequences of this talk the book highlights the need for far reaching changes to courtroom rules of evidence Concealed Silences and Inaudible Voices in Political Thinking Michael Freeden,2022 This book investigates silence as a normal ubiquitous and indispensable element of political thinking theory and language It explores the diverse dimensions in which silences mould the different core features of the political as a highly flexible power resource both enabling and constraining major social practices traditions and currents
