Cycles Of Destruction Volume 1:

Business Cycle Theory, Part I Volume 1 Harald Hagemann, 2024-08-23 These volumes contain key texts from the period 1860-1939 on Business Cycle Theory. It covers a long list of Anglo-Saxon writers as well as the most important contributions from the French, German, Italian, Russian, and Swedish debates. The older business cycle theories presented here richly elucidate the complex interaction between real monetary and structural change factors in economic systems, the close association between historical and analytical methods, providing a fertile source of inspiration for current researchers in the field. In Volume I of this edition, a number of chapters from early classics are presented. After 1860, the idea of a regular business cycle formulated by Clément Juglar was increasingly recognised as a recurrent phenomenon. This edition begins with Juglar's analysis of crises from a monetary standpoint and John Stuart Mill's analysis of the role of an excessive credit expansion as a characteristic and fuel for speculation. Also included are two key chapters of Marx's work: his growth model as it is specified in the extended schemes of reproduction and his comments on crisis theory. The final sections present key chapters by Jevons on his theory of sunspots, Hobson and Mummery's linking of depressions in trade with insufficient consumption and excessive thrift, Marshall on price fluctuations as the prevailing endogenous characteristic of cyclical fluctuations, and his belief in the existence of a ten-year cycle. Mitchell's analysis of the imbalance between costs and prices that develops over the cycle, Kitchin's distinction between movements of economic variables composed of either major or trade cycles and minor cycles averaging 40 months, and Kuznets' attempt to give a rationale to the secondary secular movements he discovered.

Studies in Rabbinic Narratives, Volume 1 Jeffrey L. Rubenstein, 2021-03-31 Explore new theoretical tools and lines of analysis of rabbinic stories. Rabbinic literature includes hundreds of stories and brief narrative traditions. These narrative traditions often take the form of biographical anecdotes that recount a deed or event in the life of a rabbi. Modern scholars consider these narratives as didactic fictions: stories used to teach lessons, promote rabbinic values, and grapple with the tensions and conflicts of rabbinic life. Using methods drawn from literary and cultural theory, including feminist, structuralist, Marxist, and psychoanalytic methods, contributors analyze narratives from the Babylonian Talmud, midrash, Mishnah, and other rabbinic compilations to shed light on their meanings, functions, and narrative art. Contributors include Julia Watts Belser, Beth Berkowitz, Dov Kahane, Jane L. Kanarek, Tzvi Novick, James Adam Redfield, Jay Rovner, Jeffrey L. Rubenstein, Zvi Septimus, Dov Weiss, and Barry Scott Wimpfheimer. The Institutes of Biblical Law Vol. 1 R. J. The Tradition of the Trojan War in Homer and the Epic Cycle Jonathan S. Burgess, 2003-04-30

Although the Iliad and Odyssey narrate only relatively small portions of the Trojan War and its aftermath for centuries these works have overshadowed other more comprehensive narratives of the conflict particularly the poems known as the Epic Cycle In The Tradition of the Trojan War in Homer and the Epic Cycle Jonathan Burgess challenges Homer's authority on the war's history and the legends surrounding it placing the Iliad and Odyssey in the larger often overlooked context of the entire body of Greek epic poetry of the Archaic Age He traces the development and transmission of the Cyclic poems in ancient Greek culture comparing them to later Homeric poems and finding that they were far more influential than has previously been thought
