CONTINENTAL DRIFT THEORY

Continental Drift Writers Club Press

Roy Porter

Continental Drift Writers Club Press:

Continental Drift Humphrey Muller, 2000-04 Harry Denton is a middle aged professor who leaves his secure post at a London university on account of the sense of failure and embarrassment caused by his wife Anne's mounting debts. An inheritance left to him by his father enables him to start a new life by buying a small hotel in the Scottish Borders. But in this new context his marriage to Anne proves to be just as hopeless and loveless. He escapes through flights of fancy frequently contemplating suicide and becomes obsessed with one of his guests Eleanor who introduces him to the ideas of James Redfield in The Celestine Prophecy. Although ironically she comes across as a pretty simpleton married to an uncouth double glazing salesman she expresses the thinking that in time will transform Denton's life. It is not before he drifts into the violent world of Apartheid South Africa that he finds his dream.

The Cage and the Cross Humphrey Muller, 2000-06-27 Like James Joyce's character Stephen Daedalus Denton searches deeply into his soul seeking to communicate and understand the consciousness of his race. Questioning his reason for living Denton preaches the Gospel to prisoners in Pretoria Central Prison. The author's blending of narrative and stream of consciousness interspersed with poetic epiphany captures the complex climate of Denton's spiritual journey. The author writes on a high dramatic level never in danger of losing the tension of a conflict that leads his character away from a fundamentalist belief in Christian doctrine to a wider acceptance of Christ and salvation through grace.

AUTHOR BIO Humphrey Muller MA Wales PhD London DLitt OFS DEd SA was Professor and Head of the Department of English at the University of the North in South Africa for ten years. He is the author of numerous academic textbooks and literary studies. In 1988 he left his academic career to move to Scotland to devote more time to creative writing.

Africa-centred Knowledges Brenda Cooper, Robert Morrell, 2014 Knowledge production is a highly political and politicized practice. This book questions the way in which knowledge of and about Africa is produced and how this influences development policy and practice. Rebutting both Euro and Afrocentric production of knowledge this collection proposes a multiple global and dynamic Africa-centredness in which scholars use whatever concepts and research tools are most appropriate to the different African contexts in which they work. In the first part of the book key conceptual themes are raised and the epistemological foundations are laid through questions of gender literature and popular music. Contributors in the second part apply and test these tools and concepts examining the pressures on doctoral students in a South African university, the crisis in knowledge about declining marine fish populations, perplexities around why certain ICT provisions fail or how some Zimbabwean students despite being beset by poverty succeed. The light thrown on the mechanics of how knowledge comes into being and in whose interests illuminates one of the key issues in African Studies. Brenda Cooper is an Honorary Research Associate at the University of Manchester. She was for many years the Director of the Centre for African Studies and a Professor in the English department at the University of Cape Town where she is now Emeritus Professor Robert Morrell is Coordinator of the Programme for the Enhancement of Research Capacity at the University of Cape Town Something about the Author
