The European Union's Common Agricultural Policy: Pressures for Change ,

The European Union's Common Agricultural Policy Reforms Marko Lovec, 2016-08-02 This book engages in the controversies of the European Union s Common Agricultural Policy CAP reforms demonstrating how these are reiterated by mainstream theoretical approaches in the field The reforms that the European Union s CAP underwent during the last three decades were intended to make it less trade distorting more taxpayer friendly and more able to meet the new challenges of environmental concerns and rural development territorial cohesion The outcome of the reforms has however contradicted these objectives with the controversies being reiterated by the mainstream theoretical approaches in the field European Union s Common Agricultural Policy Reforms argues that these controversies are due to reductionist rationalist and idealist assumptions with regard to the object of inquiry applied by mainstream approaches It proposes an alternative critical approach that takes into account the role of real material factors Critical realism is not just an alternative explanation of CAP reforms but an alternative theory of how explanations can be made which enables readers to reflect upon and endorse the results of existing lines of research in proceeding towards deeper level theory

Outlook on the common agricultural policy of the European Union Christian Manthe, 2003-08-06 Inhaltsangabe Introduction The focus of the thesis is the Direct Payments Systems of the Common Agricultural Policy of the European Union as introduced as part of the MacSharry reform and extended under the Agenda 2000 The objective is to analyse the current system and the proposals made by the Commission in January 2003 regarding a decoupling of these payments The Common Agricultural Policy was one of the first policies developed in the European Union and one of those regulated in the greatest detail Among the European Union s policies the CAP is regarded as one of the most important policy areas This is justified not only because of its share of the EU budget the vast number of people and the extent of the territory directly affected but also because of its symbolic significance and the extent of sovereignty transferred from the national to the European level The significance of the CAP nowadays is also portrayed by the fact that it is directly related to the Single Market and the EMU two key areas in achieving the European integration The objective of the CAP was to support the agricultural sector in the Member States The second chapter of this thesis will provide general legal background information on the institutions of the EU and the functioning of the decision making processes with regards to the agricultural sector The history of the CAP its functioning the reasons for its creation and some general information will be outlined in chapter 3 Special emphasis will be on the common market organisations the second pillar of the CAP the rural development policy and the system of Direct Payments The history will also cover the Agenda 2000 the Mid term review and especially the latest reform proposals of the EU in January 2003 The proposals with regard to the Direct Payments such as the decoupling and the modulation will be subject to a closer analysis in chapter 7 The chapter 4 covers the EU enlargement and gives an overview of the new challenges arising by that for the EU Even though the consequences of the enlargement are significant in some areas of the CAP this thesis will not provide a closer analysis of all the dimensions The topic of the EU enlargement itself is too extensive to be covered by a single chapter The focus of this thesis is on the Direct Payment system of the CAP and thus the consequences of EU enlargement will only be portrayed on this background Chapter 6 provides a short evaluation of Review the 1999 World Trade Organization Multilateral Negotiations on Agricultural Trade United States. Congress. House. Committee on Agriculture,1998 The UK Government's "Vision for the Common Agricultural Policy" Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee,2007-05-24 Incorporating HCP 1250 session 2005 06 not previously published The European Model of Agriculture Michael Cardwell,2004 Michael Cardwell s study assesses whether the EU can create a new legislative framework that is feasible and which will placate the WTO and its drive towards world domination Environmental Policy Integration Andrea Lenschow,2012 Integrating environmental policies into the policies of all other sectors is the core European environmental policy But there has been no thorough investigation of the political process involved This volume provides the first It analyses the process of policy integration the greening of public policy across the relevant sectors and countries It finds significant variation from sector to sector and from country to country and analyses the reasons for this Surprisingly the UK traditionally the dirty man of Europe is far more actively engaged than environmental progressives such as Germany It identifies the obstacles to integration and offers solutions for policy formulation decision making and implementation at the relevant political levels Socioeconomic and Environmental Impacts on Agriculture in the New Europe Serban Scriciu,2011-03-13 This book looks at agriculture and the environment placed within the dynamic context of post communist societal change and entry into the European Union EU Scriciu explores developments in eleven Central and Eastern European CEE countries and argues for agriculture s natural place in these societies The history of these countries is significant in how it has shaped the institutions and influenced the outcomes In many cases during communism agriculture was not considered a strategically An ecological consciousness did not figure high on the agendas of authoritarian regimes After 1990 some post communist farm economies progressed slower than others and environmental pressures mostly diminished with agricultural restructuring In parts of CEE increases in numbers of low input small farms have resulted in some though largely unintended ecological benefits A dual environmental challenge has nevertheless surfaced On one hand environmentally unsustainable practices have been attributed to some low input farming On the other hand risks of farm over intensification and resource overexploitation are on the rise Also environmental regulatory and institutional frameworks are not always effectively in place EU membership is not creating the anticipated benefits for farm growth There are a number of systemic structural barriers preventing many farmers from drawing on Common Agricultural Policy incentives and support The presence of many vulnerable poor farms is clearly problematic particularly economically However small scale farms could be made more acceptable and profitable by ensuring EU policies acknowledge their value and by building institutions to support alternative farm growth strategies aside from the traditional European model of individual corporate farm expansion The voluntary uptake of grassroots rural cooperation and farm associations may represent such an alternative Future European farm policy reforms need to reach the small and vulnerable and better tackle issues of farm equity poverty and agricultural sustainability in the new Europe This is a timely contribution as this type of transition has just begun This book should be of use to students and researchers looking at agricultural and environmental economics post communist rural societal change European integration and the Common Agricultural Policy
