Experimentation in Improvised Jazz Andrys Onsman, Robert Burke, 2018-10-01 Experimentation in Improvised Jazz Chasing Ideas challenges the notion that in the twenty first century jazz can be restrained by a singular static definition The worldwide trend for jazz to be marginalized by the mainstream music industry as well as conservatoriums and schools of music runs the risk of stifling the innovative and challenging aspects of its creativity The authors argue that to remain relevant jazz needs to be dynamic proactively experimental and consciously facilitate new ideas to be made accessible to an audience broader than the innovators themselves Experimentation in Improvised Jazz explores key elements of experimental jazz music in order to discern ways in which the genre is developing The book begins with an overview of where when and how new ideas in free and improvised jazz have been created and added to the canon developing the genre beyond its initial roots It moves on to consider how and why musicians create free and improvised jazz the decisions they make while playing What are they responding to What are they depending on What are they thinking The authors analyse and synthesise the creation of free jazz by correlating the latest research to the reflections provided by some of the world's greatest jazz innovators for this project. Finally, the book examines how we respond to free and improvised jazz artistically, critically, and personally. Free jazz is the book argues an environment that develops through experimentation with new ideas.

Opening Doors: Orchestras, Opera Companies and Community Engagement Emily Dollman, 2023-06-30

What is the role of classical music in the 21st century? How will classical musicians maintain their relevance and purpose? This book follows the working activities of professional orchestral musicians and opera singers as they move off stage into schools, community centres, prisons, libraries, and corporations, engaging with their communities in new, rich ways through education and community engagement programmes. Key examples of collaborative partnerships between orchestras, opera companies, schools, and music services in the delivery of music education are investigated, with a focus on the UK's Music Hub system. The impact of these partnerships is examined both in terms of how they inspire and foster the next generation of musicians, as well as the extent to which they broaden access to quality music education. Detailed case studies are provided on the impact of classical music education programmes on social cohesion, health, and wellbeing, and the education outcomes for students from low socio-economic communities. The implications for the future training of classical musicians are analysed, as are the new career paths for orchestral musicians and composers straddling performance and education.

Opening Doors: Orchestras, Opera Companies and Community Engagement investigates the ways in which the classical music industry is reinventing its sense of purpose, never a more important or urgent pursuit than in the present decade.
