Bradley, 2023-10-24 In Anteaesthetics Rizvana Bradley begins from the proposition that blackness cannot be represented in modernity's aesthetic regime but is nevertheless foundational to every representation Troubling the idea that the aesthetic is sheltered from the antiblack terror that lies just beyond its sanctuary Bradley insists that blackness cannot make a home within the aesthetic yet is held as its threshold and aporia The book problematizes the phenomenological and ontological conceits that underwrite the visual sensual and abstract logics of modernity Moving across multiple histories and geographies artistic mediums and forms from nineteenth century painting and early cinema to the contemporary text based works video installations and digital art of Glenn Ligon Mickalene Thomas and Sondra Perry Bradley inaugurates a new method for interpretation an ante formalism which demonstrates how black art engages in the recursive deconstruction of the aesthetic forms that remain foundational to modernity Foregrounding the negativity of black art Bradley shows how each of these artists disclose the racialized contours of the body form and medium even interrogating the form that is the world itself Drawing from black critical theory Continental philosophy film and media studies art history and black feminist thought Bradley explores artistic practices that inhabit the negative underside of form Ultimately Anteaesthetics asks us to think philosophically with black art and with the philosophical invention black art necessarily undertakes Media Theory in

The Archive of Fear Christina Zwarg, 2020-10-15 Focusing on U S slavery and its aftermath in the nineteenth century The Archive of Fear explores the traumatic force field that continued to inflect discussions of slavery and abolition both before and after the Civil War It challenges the long assumed distinction between psychological and cultural historical theories of trauma discovering a virtual dialogue between three central U S writers and Sigmund Freud concerning the traumatic response of slavery's perpetrators A strain of trauma theory and practice comes alive in the temporal and spatial disruptions of New World slavery and The Archive of Fear shows how key elements of that theory still inform the infrastructure of race relations today It argues that trauma theory before Freud first involves a return to an overlap between crisis insurrection and mesmerism found in the work of Frederick Douglass Harriet Beecher Stowe and W E B Du Bois

Mesmer's crisis state has long been read as the precursor to hypnosis the tool Freud famously rejected when he created psychoanalysis But the story of what was lost to trauma theory when Freud adopted the talk cure can be told through cultural disruptions of New World slavery especially after mesmerism arrived in Saint Domingue where its implication in the Haitian revolution in both reality and fantasy had an impact on the history of emancipation in the United States The Routledge Companion to Media Studies and Digital Humanities Jentery Sayers, 2018-05-01 Although media studies and digital humanities are established fields their overlaps have not been examined in depth This comprehensive collection fills that gap giving readers a critical guide to understanding the array of methodologies and projects operating at the intersections of media culture and practice Topics include access praxis social justice design interaction interfaces mediation materiality remediation data memory making programming and hacking
