Thorson,2024 In The Invented State Emily Thorson argues that a problematic and understudied aspect of political misinformation reflects widespread public misperception about what the government does Because much of public policy is invisible to the public there is fertile ground for false beliefs to flourish leading to the creation of what Thorson terms the invented state systematic misperceptions about public policy However people get the facts wrong not because they are lazy stupid or blinded by partisan loyalty Rather misperceptions are created when three conditions are met when citizens have incomplete information about an issue when their own biases color their understanding of it and when they feel that the issue is important In other words the invented state is created not just by exposure to explicit misinformation but also by individuals cognitive errors Correcting these policy misperceptions is highly effective at reducing false beliefs In addition providing people with corrective information has downstream effects on attitudes When they learn how policies including Social Security refugee policy and the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program really work their approval of these policies increases and they also shift their policy priorities Contrary to pundits assumptions of a public who is largely indifferent to policy there is a deep public desire to learn basic facts about how the government works Thorson meets that desire with analysis on how the news media can identify and effectively correct substantive policy misperceptions The Invented State not only sheds a new light on how Americans think about policy but can also help to inform evidence based interventions to improve democratic competence Issues in Media CQ Researcher,2018-10-03 What is the future of television Do social media and big data threaten privacy rights Do children have too much access to violent media content Is reporting on global conflict worth the risk These questions and many more are at the heart of today's media landscape Written by award winning CQ Researcher journalists this collection of non partisan reports focuses on fifteen hot button issues impacting the media With reports ranging from the fight over net

Surfing the South Steve Estes,2022-02-23 When most Americans think of surfing they often envision waves off the coasts of California Hawai i or even New Jersey What few know is that the South has its own surf culture To fully explore this unsung surfing world Steve Estes undertook a journey that stretched more than 2 300 miles traveling from the coast of Texas to Ocean City Maryland Along the way he interviewed and surfed alongside dozens of people wealthy and poor men and women Black and white all of whom opened up about their lives how they saw themselves and what the sport means to them They also talked about race class the environment and how surfing has shaped their identities The cast includes a retired Mississippi riverboat captain and alligator hunter who was one of the first to surf the Gulf Coast of Louisiana a Pensacola sheet metal worker who ran the China Beach Surf Club while he was stationed in Vietnam and a Daytona Beach swimsuit model who shot the curl in the 1966 World Surfing Championships before circumnavigating the globe in search of waves and adventure From these varied and surprising stories emerge a complex sometimes troubling but nevertheless beautiful picture of the modern South and its people
