Internationalizing the Psychology Curriculum in the United States

Frederick Leong, Wade E. Pickren, Mark M. Leach, Anthony J. Marsella, 2011-12-27 The psychology community recognizes that cultivating an international worldview is crucial not only to professionals and researchers but more importantly for professors and students of psychology as well. It is critically necessary for psychologists to learn from their colleagues who are working in different cultural contexts in order to develop the type of knowledge and psychological understanding of human behavior that will be maximally useful to practitioners and researchers alike. This volume Internationalizing the Psychology Curriculum in the United States provides information and resources to help psychology faculty educate and train future generations of psychologists within a much more international mindset and global perspective. Recognizing that cultural context are central to a true and accurate psychology, the authors describe how cultural, economic, political, and social factors in different countries frame individual experience and affect the science and practice of psychology. Each of the chapters will provide a content specific overview of how the curriculum in psychology with regards to social development, clinical counseling psychology, etc. will need to be modified in order to present a much more global view of psychology.

Culture across the Curriculum Kenneth D. Keith, 2018-04-12 Culture across the Curriculum provides a useful handbook for psychology teachers in the major subfields of the discipline. From introductory psychology to the foundations in such areas as social psychology, statistics, research methods, memory, cognition, personality, and development to such specialized courses as language, sexual minorities, and peace psychology, there is something here for virtually every teacher of psychology. In addition to discussions of the rationale for inclusion of cultural context in their areas of specialization, these experienced teachers also offer advice and ideas for teaching exercises and activities to support the teaching of a psychology of all people.
