New York and Toronto Novels after Postmodernism

Caroline Rosenthal, 2011 Cities are material and symbolic spaces through which nations define their cultural identities The great cities that have arisen on the North American continent have stimulated the imaginations of the United States and Canada in very different ways This first comparative study of North American urban fiction starts out by delineating the sociohistorical and literary contexts in which cities grew into diverging symbolic spaces in American and Canadian culture After an overview of recent developments in the cultural conception of urban space the book takes New York and Toronto fiction as exemplary for exploring representations of the urban after postmodernism It analyzes four twenty first century novels two set in New York Siri Hustvedt's What I Loved and Paule Marshall's The Fisher King and two set in Toronto Carol Shields's Unless and Dionne Brand's What We All Long For While these texts continue to echo the specific traditions of nation building and canon formation in the United States and Canada they also share certain features All of them investigate the affective crossroads of the city while returning to a more realistic mode of representation Caroline Rosenthal is Professor of American Literature at the Friedrich Schiller University in Jena Germany

Urban Rehearsals and Novel Plots in the Early American City

Betsy Klimasmith, 2021-11-04 Urban Rehearsals and Novel Plots in the Early American City sheds new light on the literature of the early US by exploring how literature theatre architecture and images worked together to allow readers to imagine themselves as urbanites even before cities developed In the four decades following the Revolutionary War the new nation was a loose network of nascent cities connected by print Before a national culture could develop local city cultures took shape literary texts played key roles in helping new Americans become city people Drawing on extensive archival research Urban Rehearsals argues that literature particularly novels and plays allowed Bostonians to navigate the transition from colonial town to post revolution city enabled Philadelphians to grieve their experiences of the 1793 Yellow Fever epidemic and rebuild in the epidemic s aftermath and showed New Yorkers how the domestic practices that reinforced their urbanity could be opened to the broader public Throughout attention to underrepresented voices and texts calls attention to the possibilities for women immigrants and Black Americans in developing urban spaces while showing how those possibilities would be foreclosed as the nation developed Balancing attention to canonical texts of the early Republic including The Power of Sympathy Charlotte Temple and Benjamin Franklin s Autobiography with novels whose depiction of early cities deserves greater attention such as Ormond The Boarding School Monima and Kelroy this volume shows how US cities developed on the pages and stages of the early Republic building urban imaginations that would construct the nation s early cities
