City For Sale The Transformation Of San Francisco Revised And Updated Edition:

San Francisco Bay Area Sports Rita Liberti, Maureen Smith, 2017-03-15 San Francisco Bay Area Sports brings together fifteen essays covering the issues controversies and personalities that have emerged as northern Californians recreated and competed over the last 150 years The area s diversity anti establishment leanings and unique and beautiful natural surroundings are explored in the context of a dynamic sporting past that includes events broadcast to millions or activities engaged in by just a few Professional and college events are covered along with lesser known entities such as Oakland s public parks tennis player and Bay Area native Rosie Casals environmentalism and hiking in Marin County and the origins of the Gay Games Taken as a whole this book clarifies how sport is connected to identities based on sexuality gender race and ethnicity Just as crucial the stories here illuminate how sport and recreation can potentially create transgressive spaces particularity in a place known for its nonconformity

City for Sale Chester Hartman, Sarah Carnochan, 2002-10 In this revised edition of his study of San Francisco s economic and political development since the mid 1950s Chester Hartman gives a detailed account of how the city has been transformed by the expansion outward and upward of its downtown

Designing San Francisco Alison Isenberg, 2024-09-24 A major urban history of the design and development of postwar San Francisco Designing San Francisco is the untold story of the formative postwar decades when U S cities took their modern shape amid clashing visions of the future In this pathbreaking and richly illustrated book Alison Isenberg shifts the focus from architects and city planners those most often hailed in histories of urban development and design to the unsung artists activists and others who played pivotal roles in rebuilding San Francisco between the 1940s and the 1970s Previous accounts of midcentury urban renewal have focused on the opposing terms set down by Robert Moses and Jane Jacobs put simply development versus preservation and have followed New York City models Now Isenberg turns our attention west to colorful pioneering and contentious San Francisco where unexpectedly fierce battles were waged over iconic private and public projects like Ghirardelli Square Golden Gateway and the Transamerica Pyramid When large scale redevelopment came to low rise San Francisco in the 1950s the resulting rivalries and conflicts sparked the proliferation of numerous allied arts fields and their professionals including architectural model makers real estate publicists graphic designers photographers property managers builders sculptors public interest lawyers alternative press writers and preservationists Isenberg explores how these centrally engaged arts professionals brought new ideas to city regional and national planning and shaped novel projects across urban suburban and rural borders San Francisco s rebuilding galvanized far reaching critiques of the inequitable competition for scarce urban land and propelled debates over responsible public land stewardship Isenberg challenges many truisms of this renewal era especially the presumed male domination of postwar urban design showing how women collaborated in city building long before feminism s impact in the 1970s An evocative portrait of one of the world s great cities Designing San Francisco provides a new paradigm for understanding past and present struggles to define the urban future Film Blackness Michael Boyce Gillespie, 2016-08-25 In Film Blackness Michael Boyce Gillespie shifts the ways we think about black film treating it not as a category a genre or strictly a representation of the black experience but as a visual negotiation between film as art and the discursivity of race Gillespie challenges expectations that black film can or should represent the reality of black life or provide answers to social problems Instead he frames black film alongside literature music art photography and new media treating it as an interdisciplinary form that enacts black visual and expressive culture Gillespie discusses the racial grotesque in Ralph Bakshi's Coonskin 1975 black performativity in Wendell B Harris Jr's Chameleon Street 1989 blackness and noir in Bill Duke's Deep Cover 1992 and how place and desire impact blackness in Barry Jenkins's Medicine for Melancholy 2008 Considering how each film represents a distinct conception of the relationship between race and cinema Gillespie recasts the idea of black film and poses new paradigms for genre narrative aesthetics historiography and intertextuality Place Matters Peter Dreier, John H. Mollenkopf, Todd Swanstrom, 2004 Analyzes the problematic trends facing America's cities and older suburbs and challenges us to put America's urban crisis back on the national agenda The Earth, the City, and the Hidden Narrative of Race Carl C. Anthony, 2017-10-16 This book by Carl C Anthony offers a new story about race and place intended to bridge long standing racial divides The long ignored history of African American contributions to American infrastructure and the modern economic system is placed in the larger context of the birth of the universe and the evolution of humanity in Africa The author interweaves personal experiences as an architect planner environmentalist and black American with urban history racial justice cosmology and the challenge of healing the environmental and social damage that threatens the future of humankind Thoughtful writing about race urban planning and environmental and social equity is sparked by stories of life as an African American child in post World War II Philadelphia a student and civil rights activist in 1960s Harlem a traveling student of West African architecture and culture and a pioneering environmental justice advocate in Berkeley and New York This book will appeal to everyone troubled by racism and searching for solutions including individuals exploring their identity and activists eager to democratize power and advance equitable policies in historically marginalized communities This is a rich insightful encounter with an American urbanist with a uniquely expansive perspective on human origins who sets forth what he calls an inclusive vision for a shared planetary future Transgender History, second edition Susan Stryker, 2017-11-07 A timely second edition of the classic text on transgender history with a new introduction and updated material throughout Covering American transgender history from the mid twentieth century to today Transgender History takes a chronological approach to the subject of transgender history with each chapter covering major movements writings and events Chapters cover the transsexual and transvestite communities in the years following World War II trans radicalism and social change which spanned from 1966 with the publication of The Transsexual Phenomenon and lasted through the early 1970s the mid 70s to 1990 the era of identity politics and the changes witnessed in trans circles through these years and the gender issues witnessed through the 90s and 00s Transgender History includes informative sidebars highlighting quotes from major texts and speeches in transgender history and brief biographies of key players plus excerpts from transgender memoirs and discussion of treatments of transgenderism in popular culture

Safe Space Christina B. Hanhardt, 2013-12-04 Winner 2014 Lambda Literary Award in LGBT Studies Since the 1970s a key goal of lesbian and gay activists has been protection against street violence especially in gay neighborhoods During the same time policymakers and private developers declared the containment of urban violence to be a top priority In this important book Christina B Hanhardt examines how LGBT calls for safe space have been shaped by broader public safety initiatives that have sought solutions in policing and privatization and have had devastating effects along race and class lines Drawing on extensive archival and ethnographic research in New York City and San Francisco Hanhardt traces the entwined histories of LGBT activism urban development and U S policy in relation to poverty and crime over the past fifty years She highlights the formation of a mainstream LGBT movement as well as the very different trajectories followed by radical LGBT and queer grassroots organizations Placing LGBT activism in the context of shifting liberal and neoliberal policies Safe Space is a groundbreaking exploration of the contradictory legacies of the LGBT struggle for safety in the city

Making Immigrant Rights Real Els de Graauw, 2016-03-03 More than half of the 41 million foreign born individuals in the United States today are noncitizens half have difficulty with English a quarter are undocumented and many are poor As a result most immigrants have few opportunities to make their voices heard in the political process Nonprofits in many cities have stepped into this gap to promote the integration of disadvantaged immigrants They have done so despite notable constraints on their political activities including limits on their lobbying and partisan electioneering limited organizational resources and dependence on government funding Immigrant rights advocates also operate in a national context focused on immigration enforcement rather than immigrant integration In Making Immigrant Rights Real Els de Graauw examines how immigrant serving nonprofits can make impressive policy gains despite these limitations Drawing on three case studies of immigrant rights policies language access labor rights and municipal ID cards in San Francisco de Graauw develops a tripartite model of advocacy strategies that nonprofits have used to propose enact and implement immigrant friendly policies administrative advocacy cross sectoral and cross organizational collaborations and strategic issue framing The inventive development and deployment of these strategies enabled immigrant serving nonprofits in San Francisco to secure some remarkable new immigrant rights victories and de Graauw explores how other cities can learn from their experiences

Geographies of Health and Development Rachel Bezner Kerr, Isaac Luginaah, 2016-03-03 The geographies of health and development is an emerging sub discipline tying in with many of the conceptual theoretical and practical components of other disciplines working in health health care economics and international development Spatially and theoretically grounded in geography this collection offers a fresh perspective on the dialectic relationships between health and development Health problems in a developing context take on much higher rates of prevalence as a result of the varied cultural structural and economic vulnerabilities of the people they impact This book begins by exploring some of the circumstances surrounding the distinctive health inequities currently facing many developing countries including malaria maternal mortality and HIV AIDS This is followed by a discussion of how matters of physical access and human resource issues and perhaps most importantly the challenges of financing together shape the access and utilization of health care Examining how the environment interacts to influence the health of the people that live there the next section includes discussion around challenges of food in security and the importance of clean and uncontaminated water for health Finally the book explores the influence of globalization on health specifically within the urban environment against the backdrop of global health policy
