The Formation of the Historical World in the Human Sciences Wilhelm Dilthey, 2002 This volume provides Dilthey's most mature and best formulation of his Critique of Historical Reason It begins with three Studies Toward the Foundation of the Human Sciences in which Dilthey refashions Husserlian concepts to describe the basic structures of consciousness relevant to historical understanding The volume next presents the major 1910 work The Formation of the Historical World in the Human Sciences Here Dilthey considers the degree to which carriers of history individuals cultures institutions and communities can be articulated as productive systems capable of generating value and meaning and of realizing purposes Hegel's idea of objective spirit is reconceived in a more empirical form to designate the medium of commonality in which historical beings are immersed Any universal claims about history need to be framed within the specific productive systems analyzed by the various human sciences Dilthey's drafts for the Continuation of the Formation contain extensive discussions of the categories most important for our knowledge of historical life meaning value purpose time and development He also examines the contributions of autobiography to historical understanding and of biography to scientific history The finest summary of Dilthey's views on hermeneutics can be found in The Understanding of Other Persons and Their Manifestations of Life Here Dilthey differentiates understanding relative to three kinds of manifestations of life After giving his analysis of elementary understanding he examines the role of induction in higher understanding and interpretation and the relevance of transposition and re-experiencing for grasping individuality Modernist Poetics of History James Longenbach, 2014-07-14 By thoroughly examining T S Eliot and Ezra Pound collected and uncollected writings James Longenbach presents their understandings of the philosophical idea of history and analyzes the strategies of historical interpretation they discussed in their critical prose and embodied in their poems including history Originally published in 1987 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 New Horizons in Hermeneutics Anthony C.
