Community-based Collaboration E. Franklin Dukes, Karen Firehock, Juliana Birkhoff, 2011 The debate over the value of community based environmental collaboration is one that dominates current discussions of the management of public lands and other resources In Community Based Collaboration Bridging Socio Ecological Research and Practice the volume's contributors offer an in depth interdisciplinary exploration of what attracts people to this collaborative mode The authors address the new institutional roles adopted by community based collaborators and their interaction with existing governance institutions in order to achieve more holistic solutions to complex environmental challenges Contributors Heidi L Ballard University of California Davis Juliana E Birkhoff RESOLVE Charles Curtin Antioch University Cecilia Danks University of Vermont E Franklin Dukes University of Virginia and George Mason University Mar a Fernandez Gimenez Colorado State University Karen E Firehock University of Virginia Melanie Hughes McDermott Rutgers University William D Leach California State University Sacramento Margaret Ann Moote private consultant Susan L Senecah State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry Gregg B Walker Oregon State University The Routledge Handbook of Environment and Communication Anders Hansen, Robert Cox, 2015-03-05 This Handbook provides a comprehensive statement and reference point for theory research and practice with regard to environment and communication and it does this from a perspective which is both international and multi disciplinary in scope Offering comprehensive critical reviews of the history and state of the art of research into the key dimensions of environmental communication the chapters of this handbook together demonstrate the strengths of multi disciplinary and cross disciplinary approaches to understanding the centrality of communication to how the environment is constructed and indeed contested socially politically and culturally Organised in five thematic sections The Routledge Handbook of Environment and Communication includes contributions from internationally recognised leaders in the field The first section looks at the history and development of the discipline from a range of theoretical perspectives Section two considers the sources communicators and media professionals involved in producing environmental communication Section three examines research on news entertainment media and cultural representations of the environment The fourth section looks at the social and political implications of environmental communication with the final section discussing likely future trajectories for the field The first reference Handbook to offer a state of the art comprehensive overview of the emerging field of environmental communication research this authoritative text is a must for scholars of environmental communication across a range of disciplines including environmental studies media and communication studies cultural studies and related disciplines Community-Based Service Delivery Jung Min Choi, John W. Murphy, 2021-05-16 This book takes up the challenge of the failure of most initiatives in community based service delivery to address the significant philosophical shift that is necessary to create implement and evaluate appropriately these sorts of projects Challenging the tendency to focus entirely on practicalities the authors emphasize the centrality of philosophy to any successful community based undertaking While fully acknowledging the importance of local knowledge and the guidance of projects by local people this volume shows that these principles are often at odds with the Cartesian mindset that underpins much project planning with its emphasis on objectivity in science and knowledge Since all knowledge is mediated by human activity and embedded in language and other modes of expression this dualist approach must be reconsidered A thorough rethinking of traditional service delivery which takes into account issues of data methodology and bias together with questions of generalizability community power and communication this book will appeal to scholars of sociology social policy and social work with interests in community based service delivery Collaborative

Thomas,Brenda D. Phillips,William E. Lovekamp,Alice Fothergill,2013-05-09 With chapters that incorporate additional perspectives on social vulnerability this second edition focuses on the social construction of disasters demonstrating how the characteristics of an event are not the only reason that tragedies unfurl It incorporates disaster case studies to illustrate concepts relevant and seminal literature and the most recent data available In addition to highlighting the U S context it integrates a global approach and includes numerous international case studies The book highlights recent policy changes and current disaster management approaches and infuses the concept of community resilience and building capacity throughout the text
