Digging Deep A History Of Mining In South Africa:

Digging Deep Jade Davenport, 2013-12-18 Before the advent of the great mineral revolution in the latter half of the 19th century South Africa was a sleepy colonial backwater whose unpromising landscape was seemingly devoid of any economic potential Yet lying just beneath the dusty surface of the land lay the richest treasure trove of gold diamonds platinum coal and a host of other metals and minerals that has ever been discovered in one country It was the discovery and exploitation of first diamonds in 1870 and then gold in 1886 that proved the catalyst to the greatest mineral revolution the world has ever known which transformed South Africa into the supreme industrialised power on the African continent Here for the first time is the complete history of South Africa s phenomenal mineral revolution spanning a period of more than 150 years from its earliest commercial beginnings to the present day incorporating seven of the major commodities that have been exploited Digging Deep describes the establishment and unparalleled growth of mining tracing the history of the industry from its humble beginnings where copper was first mined on a commercial basis in Namaqualand in the Cape Colony in the early 1850s to the discovery and exploitation of the country s other major mineral commodities This is also the story of how mining gave rise to modern South Africa and how it compelled the country to develop and progress the way in which it did It also incorporates the stories of the visionary men Cecil Rhodes Alfred Beit Barney Barnato Sir Ernest Oppenheimer Sammy Marks and Hans Merensky who pioneered and shaped the development of the industry on which modern South Africa was built

Local Responses to Mine Closure in South Africa Sethulego Matebesi, Lochner Marais, Verna Nel, 2024-02-12 This book investigates mine closure and local responses in South Africa linking dependencies and social disruption Mine closure presents a major challenge to the mining industry and government policymakers globally but particularly in the Global South South Africa is experiencing notable numbers of mine closures and this book explores the notion of social disruption a concept often applied to describe the effects of mine growth on communities but often neglecting the impact of mine closures The book begins with three theoretical chapters that discuss theory closure cost frameworks and policy development in South Africa It uses evolutionary governance theory to show how mining creates dependencies and how mining growth often blinds communities and governments to the likelihood of closure Too easily mining goes ahead with no concern for the possibility or indeed inevitability of eventual closure and how mining communities will cope These impacts are showcased through eight place based case studies from across South Africa

The Social Impacts of Mine Closure in South Africa Lochner Marais, 2022-09-05 This book investigates the relationship between mining mine closure and housing policy in post apartheid South Africa using concepts from new institutional economics and evolutionary governance theory Mine closures present a major challenge to the mining industry and governments with this being particularly noticeable in the Global South This book argues that the dependencies created by the mining industry and mine housing policies while a mine is operational cause serious societal problems when it closes To demonstrate this the book applies the concepts of place attachment asset based development and social disruption Conceptually the book challenges the view that place attachment and asset based development are the most appropriate and often the only policy responses in mining areas In South Africa the mining industry and the government have created comprehensive housing programmes linked to homeownership to promote place attachment stability and wealth among mine workers These programmes do not consider the disruption that mine closure might bring The book challenges the blind application during boom periods of policies which create long term dependencies that are difficult to manage when a mine closes This book will be of interest to students and scholars researching the social impacts of mining and the extractive industries social geography and sustainable development as well as policymakers and practitioners working with mine closure or social impact assessments
