From a primarily urban perspective the author illustrates that the fields of transportation environment with an emphasis on climate change and security for both natural hazards and terrorism and their interconnections remain robust areas for policy and planning. Synthesizing existing data, new analyses and a rich set of case studies, the book uses transportation networks as a framework to explore transportation in conjunction with environment security and interdependencies with other infrastructure sectors. The US rail transit system, ecological corridors, cyber security, planning mechanisms and the effectiveness of technologies are among the topics explored in detail. Case studies of severe and potential impacts of natural hazards, accidents and security breaches on transportation are presented. These cases support the analyses of the forces on transportation, land use and patterns of population change that connect, disconnect and reconnect people from their environment and security. The book will prove a fascinating and insightful read for academics, students and practitioners across a wide range of fields including transport, environmental economics, environmental management, urban planning, public policy and terrorism and security.

The third part, Chapters 14-23, presents various relief strategies including supply adaptation and demand mitigation for nonrecurring and recurring congestion. The last part, Chapter 24, gives general guidelines for congestion relief and provides a general outlook for the future. Automated, Faster and Greener Transport Systems Milan Janić, 2025-12-19. The book provides a comprehensive analysis and evaluates the performances of existing and future transport systems. The evaluation is mainly measured by the level of automation, operating speed and greening effect. The book reviews road-based automated and electric cars, rail-based HSR (High Speed Rail) and Maglev, air-based UAM (Urban Air Mobility) and supersonic LH2 (Liquid Hydrogen) powered 2 SCAT (Supersonic Commercial Air Transport) and evacuated HYP (Hyperloop) and submerged ETT (Evacuated Tube Transport) systems. Infrastructural, technical, operational, economic, environmental, social and policy performances are analysed and the analytical models of indicators have been developed. The models of indicators are applied using inputs from real life and hypothetical what-if scenario-based cases respecting the preferences of the main stakeholders involved, such as drivers, passengers, transport operators, policymakers and local, regional, national and global communities. A SWOT analysis is applied to the qualitative evaluation of these systems, indicating their potential advantages and disadvantages for the stakeholders involved.
