Captain Boycott And The Irish:

Captain Boycott and the Irish Joyce Marlow, 1973 Captain Charles Cunningham Boycott of Her Majesty's Foot is one of the very few individuals whose names have entered the language we use boycott as both a noun and a verb and the term exists in tongues other than English as well Boycott himself was a limited man literal and unbending of minimal importance But what he represented and the action taken against him marked an important stage in the always smoldering sometimes violent conflict between Ireland and England In the late 1870s the Irish question comprised two essential issues Home Rule a political movement whose leader was the able M P Charles Stewart Parnell and the Irish Land League a grass roots organization of tenant farmers with grievances against their absentee English landlords led by the romantic revolutionary Michael Davitt When Parnell and Davitt joined forces in 1880 and with the addition of American Irish financial and moral support the potential for violence in Ireland increased exponentially The world's press gathered for the explosion When the action came though it was remarkably tame In a speech in County Mayo near the Boycott acreage Parnell urged the disgruntled tenants to shun their landlords and Boycott's farmers shunned him with a vengeance while there was a full potato crop to be harvested An English expeditionary force marched in from Ulster but torrential rains and the Englishmen's ineptness at digging up potatoes let the whole affair degenerate from threatened violence into farce Even so this first boycott enabled Prime Minister Gladstone to introduce the first Home Rule Bill in Parliament and legislation was initiated to improve the land laws for Irish tenants And though he hardly understood its significance Captain Boycott found his surname the label for effective nonviolent action taken against economic or social complaints Publisher description Land and Popular Politics in Ireland Donald E. Jordan, 1994 A study of the Irish county of Mayo from Elizabethan times to the late nineteenth century Everyday Violence in the Irish Civil War Gemma Mary Clark, 2014-04-21 This book provides an innovative study of the violence experienced by non combatants during the Irish Civil War of 1922-3 The author surveys the function and frequency of violent acts ranging from arson intimidation and animal maiming to assault murder and sexual abuse that transpired amongst civilians and revolutionaries throughout the period of conflict Boycott in America Gary Minda, 1999 Gary Minda's critical study of boycotts in American law and culture focuses on how the word boycott has developed as a metaphoric rather than as a rational or logical form of reasoning Minda first discusses the history interpretation and understanding of boycotts He then turns to the role of metaphor in the interpretation of boycotts and of boycott law Drawing on cognitive psychology and linguistic theory Minda argues that the metaphors judges choose in describing boycotts determine how they view boycotts One of Minda's major contributions is to show how cognitive theory and the analysis of conceptual metaphors can help to explain the development of the law of boycott Equally important Minda provides a unique history of the boycotts in three separate legal fields labor antitrust and constitutional law The Vatican, the Bishops and Irish Politics 1919-39 Dermot Keogh, 2004-06-07 A detailed study of the political relations between church and state in modern Ireland this work is also an analysis of domestic politics within the context of Anglo Vatican relations Dealing exclusively with high ecclesiastical politics it assesses the relative political strength of both the British and the Irish at the Vatican and challenges the myth of English dominance over the Papacy Dermot Keogh traces the quiet diplomacy of bishops politicians and the Vatican from the turbulent years of 1919 21 through the civil war period and the rule of William T Cosgrove and Cumann na nGaedheal to the re emergence of Eamon de Valera and Fianna Fail as exponents of Catholic nationalism in the 1930s The book draws extensively on unpublished documents and for the first time explores with the aid of primary sources the exchanges between bishops politicians and the Vatican over a twenty year period It is an important contribution to the history of modern Ireland Irish Vatican and Anglo Vatican relations whose findings will lead to a radical revision of interpretations of Irish church state relations Frank Roney, Irish Rebel and California Labor Leader Ira B. Cross, 2022-09-23 This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1931 Irish Military Elites, Nation and Empire, 1870-1925 Loughlin Sweeney, 2019-08-05 This book is a social history of Irish officers in the British army in the final half century of Crown rule in Ireland Drawing on the accounts of hundreds of officers it charts the role of military elites in Irish society and the building tensions between their dual identities as imperial officers and Irishmen through land agitation the home rule struggle the First World War the War of Independence and the partition of Ireland What emerges is an account of the deeply interwoven connections between Ireland and the British army casting officers as social elites who played a pivotal role in Irish society and examining the curious continuities of this connection even when officers moral authority was shattered by war revolution independence and a divided nation American Planters and Irish Landlords in Comparative and Transnational Perspective Cathal Smith, 2021-03-14 This is the first study to systematically explore similarities differences and connections between the histories of American planters and Irish landlords The book focuses primarily on the comparative and transnational investigation of an antebellum Mississippi planter named John A Quitman 1799 1858 and a nineteenth century Irish landlord named Robert Dillon Lord Clonbrock 1807 93 examining their economic behaviors ideologies labor relations and political histories Locating Quitman and Clonbrock firmly within their wider local national and international contexts American Planters and Irish Landlords in Comparative and Transnational Perspective argues that the two men were representative of specific but comparable manifestations of agrarian modernity paternalism and conservatism that became common among the landed elites who dominated economy society and politics in the antebellum American South and in nineteenth century Ireland It also demonstrates that American planters and Irish landlords were connected by myriad direct and indirect transnational links between their societies including transatlantic intellectual cultures mutual participation in global capitalism and the mass migration of people from Ireland to the United States that occurred during the nineteenth century

Ireland Past and Present David Power Conyngham, 1883 Music, the Moving Image and Ireland, 1897-2017 John O'Flynn, 2021-12-30

Music the Moving Image and Ireland 1897 2017 constitutes the first comprehensive study of music for screen productions from or relating to the island It identifies and interprets tendencies over the first 120 years of a field comprising the relatively distinct yet often overlapping areas of Irish themed and Irish produced film Dividing into three parts the book first explores accompaniments and scores for 20th century Irish themed narrative features that resulted in significant contributions by many Hollywood British continental European and to a lesser extent Irish composers along with the input of many orchestras and other musicians Its second part is framed by a consideration of various cultural political and economic developments in both the Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland from the 1920s including the Troubles of 1968 1998 Focusing on scoring and other aspects of soundtrack production for domestic newsreel documentary film and TV programming it interprets the substantial output of many Irish composers within this milieu particularly from the 1960s to the 1990s Also referring to broader cultural and historical themes the book s third and final part charts approaches to and developments in music and sound design over various waves of Irish cinema from its relatively late emergence in the 1970s to an exponential growth and increasingly transnational orientation in the early decades of the 21st century
