Coming To My Senses The Autobiography Of A Sociologist:

Coming to My Senses George Caspar Homans, 2017-07-05 Those interested in the development of scientific theory and in the nature of academic life will appreciate this intellectual autobiography written by one of America's leading sociologists. Following his family tradition The Education of Henry Adams was written by his great uncle George Caspar Homans describes how his ideas about the proper nature of theory in social science both in form and content have developed over time. The chief interest of the book lies in the description of this process. Homans' career has spanned many of the key periods of development in social research and his own work has been central to the process. He was the first major sociologist to outline the sociological implications of psychologists' work on learning or behavior theory. His contributions to modern sociology have had a major impact on the study of small groups, the problem of theory and methods of theory construction and the study of basic characteristics of social behavior. He is regarded as the father of social exchange theory. Homans considers academic and intellectual as well as nonacademic influences on his development, personalities of highly idiosyncratic individuals against whose views of culturalism, functionalism and structuralism he reacted, discussions with colleagues, reading as well as his ancestry, his childhood in Boston, his literary education and later social life in Boston and his experiences as a sea captain in the Navy in World War II. This is an absorbing book both an autobiography and a history of the development of the social sciences in the post World War II era. Coming to My Senses George Caspar

Harvard's Quixotic Pursuit of a New Science Patrick L. Schmidt, 2022-06-21 In Harvard's Quixotic Pursuit of a New Science Patrick L Schmidt tells the little known story of how some of the most renowned social scientists of the twentieth century struggled to elevate their emerging disciplines of cultural anthropology sociology and social and clinical psychology Scorned and marginalized in their respective departments in the 1930s for pursuing the controversial theories of Freud and Jung they persuaded Harvard to establish a new department promising to create an interdisciplinary science that would surpass in importance Harvard's big three disciplines of economics government and history Although the Department of Social Relations failed to achieve this audacious goal it nonetheless attracted an outstanding faculty produced important scholarly work and trained many notable graduates At times it was a wild ride Some faculty became notorious for their questionable research Timothy Leary and Richard Alpert reborn as Ram Dass gave the psychedelic drug psilocybin to students while Henry Murray traumatized undergraduate Theodore Kaczynski later the Unabomber in a three year long experiment Central to the story is the obsessive quest of legendary sociologist Talcott Parsons for a single theory unifying the social sciences the white whale to his Captain Ahab All in all Schmidt's lively narrative is an instructive tale of academic infighting hubris and scandal
