

Read Earning in Our Service and pages 181-1 and answer the following: How does the following question(s) on page 181:

One last type: the question. Will you read the list in light of your discussion and answer which article is most responsible?

"Earning in Our Service" by Neil MacIntyre, Tyron

One last question: Suppose your response with evidence from the passage:

1. Identity: What is the central idea that the author discusses throughout the passage? What key points support that central idea?

2. Summary: Why is using our service for understanding that more complicated aspects of that central purpose is a problem, according to the author?

3. Interpret: The author says, "we require the world to remain in ignorance of their true nature." In your own words, explain what this means.

4. Analysis: The author provides us with explanations and examples of paraphrasing. Although it may seem like a technique, it serves the larger purpose. What function does this idea serve?

5. Synthesis: Why does the author begin the essay with a question by Edward B. Robinson and then suggest a solution to that question? How do the two variables of that question help shape and define the essay's central idea?

6. Interpret: Tyron writes, "In modern times, if the other members of society and those who serve them have their service as a primary goal, then the world is a better place." Explain what he means by this statement.

7. Evaluation: Based on what you know, Tyron argues that we are doing more than we should be. What evidence do you have to support this statement? The more evidence you provide, the more likely it is that the author's central idea is correct. What evidence do you have to support this statement? What evidence do you have to support this statement?

8. Analysis: What does the phrase "Earning in our service" mean? What does it mean to "earn" in our service? What does it mean to "earn" in our service?
