Prescribing HIV Prevention Nicola Bulled, 2016-06-16 Critical health communication scholars point out that the acceptance of HIV risk prevention methods are bound inside inequitable structures of power and knowledge Nicola Bulled s in depth ethnographic account of how these messages are selected transmitted and reacted to by young adults in the AIDS torn population of Lesotho in southern Africa provides a crucial example of the importance of a culture centered approach to health communication She shows the clash between traditional western perceptions of how increased knowledge will increase compliance with western ideas of prevention and mixed messages offered by local religious educational and media institutions Bullard also demonstrates how structural and geographical forces prevent the delivery and acceptance of health messages and how local communities shape their own knowledge of health disease and illness This volume will be of interest to medical anthropologists and sociologists to those in health communication and to researchers working on issues related to HIV

Communication and Social Change Thomas Tufte, 2017-04-28 How do the communication practices of governments NGOs and social movements enhance opportunities for citizen led change In this incisive book Thomas Tufte makes a call for a fundamental rethinking of what it takes to enable citizens voices participation and power in processes of social change Drawing on examples ranging from the Indignados movement in Spain to media activists in Brazil from rural community workers in Malawi to UNICEF s global outreach programmes he presents cutting edge debates about the role of media and communication in enhancing social change He offers both new and contested ideas of approaching social change from below and highlights the need for institutions governments and civil society organizations alike to be in sync with their constituencies Communication and Social Change provides essential insights to students and scholars of media and communications as well as anyone concerned with the practices and processes that lead to citizenship democracy and social justice
