Cross Cultural Interviewing Experiences Reflections Routledge:

Cross-Cultural Interviewing Gabriele Griffin, 2015-11-19 Interviewing is one of the most common techniques used to conduct qualitative research in the social sciences and humanities. As a result of globalization, researchers increasingly conduct interviews cross inter and intra nationally. This raises important questions about how differences and sameness are understood and negotiated within the interview situation as well as the power structures at play within qualitative research and the role that reflexivity plays in mediating these. What does it mean to interview Black women as a Black woman? How is ethnicity negotiated across various qualitative research encounters? How are differences bridged or asserted in feminist interviewing? These are just some of the questions explored in the chapters in this volume. Drawing on their recent research, the contributors detail their experiences of engaging in qualitative interviewing and examine how they negotiated the various dilemmas they encountered. The contributions challenge some of the assumptions made in early feminist work on interviewing, providing nuanced accounts of actual research experiences. This volume explores the practice and implications of conducting cross inter and intra cultural interviewing, bringing together researchers from a range of disciplines and countries to describe and analyse both its vicissitudes and its advantages. Qualitative Interviewing Rosalind Edwards, Janet Holland, 2023-07-13 First published. Open Access under a Creative Commons license as What is Qualitative Interviewing. This title is now also available as part of the Bloomsbury Research Methods series. This book is a step by step guide for new and experienced social science researchers looking to use interviews in their projects. Rosalind Edwards and Janet Holland explain a range of interview types and practices, providing real research examples as informative illustrations of qualitative interviewing in practice and the use of a range of creative interview tools. This new and expanded edition includes recent developments in the radical critique of interviews, debate focusing on form and content of interviews, the strategic shift to online interviewing in response to the Covid 19 pandemic, discussion of the decolonization of methodology and research, and the growing attention to indigenous methodologies for generating data, an assessment of the changing landscape for qualitative interviewing. The authors explore the use of new technologies as well as issues around asking and listening and power dynamics in research. Written in a clear and accessible style, the book concludes with an updated annotated bibliography of key texts and journals in the field. Interviewing Kathryn Roulston, 2021-10-06 This book provides guidance to researchers about how to develop interview skills that align with their theoretical assumptions. Connecting theory and method can be challenging for novice researchers. Interviewing: A Guide to Theory and Practice draws from and extends the author's earlier 2010 book and focuses on three interrelated issues: how researchers theorize research interviews, examine their subject positions in relation to projects and participants, and explore the details of interview interaction to inform practice. By developing these understandings of qualitative interview practice, Kathryn Roulston shows how researchers can design and conduct quality research projects that draw on a wide range of interview practices to Qualitative Data Collection Women Doing Intimacy Stevi Jackson, Petula Sik Ying Ho, 2020-06-11 This book offers a comparative study of the lives of young adult women and their mothers in Hong Kong and Britain. Set against the backdrop of debates regarding the consequences of late modern social change for family and intimate life, the authors consider the challenges of exploring these issues across differing cultures. The book focuses on a range of topics including mother-daughter relationships, romantic, sexual, and marital relationship trajectories, and the imagined futures of daughters. Throughout, it is argued that differences between Hong Kong and Britain are not attributable merely to local culture and tradition but are the consequence of wider social, economic, and political conditions through which cultural continuity and change are mediated. Women Doing Intimacy will be of interest to students and scholars of family life and gender studies.
