Dawn All Robert Hugh Benson:

Dawn of All Robert Hugh Benson, Aeterna Press, 2004 Gradually memory and consciousness once more reasserted themselves and he became aware that he was lying in bed But this was a slow process of intense mental effort and was as laboriously and logically built up of premises and deductions as were his theological theses learned twenty years before in his seminary There was the sheet below his chin there was a red coverlet seen at first as a blood coloured landscape of hills and valleys there was a ceiling overhead at first as remote as the vault of heaven Then little by little the confused roaring in his ears sank to a murmur It had been just now as the sound of brazen hammers clanging in reverberating caves the rolling of wheels the tramp of countless myriads of men Aeterna Press

The Dawn of All (1911), by Robert Hugh

Benson, 2016-03-18 THE DAWN OFF ALL A mysterious priest who cannot remember his own name nor even anything of the past must make his way as a Monsignor in a world undergoing a dramatic transformation in preparation for the return of Christ The world itself becomes an image of the priest's soul Benson himself writes In a former book called LORD OF THE WORLD I attempted to sketch the kind of developments a hundred years hence which I thought might reasonably be expected if the present lines of what is called modern thought were only prolonged far enough and I was informed repeatedly that the effect of the book was exceedingly depressing and discouraging to optimistic Christians In the present book I am attempting also in parable form not in the least to withdraw anything that I said in the former but to follow up the other lines instead and to sketch again in parable the kind of developments about sixty years hence which I think may reasonably be expected should the opposite process begin and ancient thought which has stood the test of centuries and is in a very remarkable manner being rediscovered by persons even more modern than modernists be prolonged instead

Dawn of

All Robert Hugh Benson, 2013-07-27 An apocalyptic vision of a late twentieth century England from one of the great Catholic science fiction authors The Dawn of All the second of Robert Hugh Benson's two science fiction satires is a counterblast to the terrifying Lord of the World Contradiction the idea that this novel presents a blueprint for an ideal society Benson wrote often and emphatically that he did not for a moment expect the pictured solution to realize itself and that he even hoped it would not Neither Science nor the State nor Religion would ever he was convinced find themselves in such mutual relations as he had invented C C Martindale S J Robert Hugh Benson 1871-1914 enjoyed a career that lasted little over a decade In addition to a great many non-fiction works he authored a series of twenty novels and short story collections that combined a specific moral orientation with an astonishing popularity among the general public of the early twentieth century As an Anglican and later a Catholic priest Father Benson was in great demand as a speaker in both England and the United States The most sensational English convert from the Anglican Communion to Catholicism since John Henry Newman Benson was a son of the Archbishop of Canterbury He wrote from a Catholic perspective but with real understanding and sympathy for the Protestant position

He was seated on some kind of raised chair beneath a canopy A carpet ran down over a couple of steps beneath his feet and beyond stood the backs of a company of ecclesiastics secular priests in cotta cassock and biretta with three or four bare footed Franciscans and a couple of Benedictines Ten yards away there rose a temporary pulpit with a back and a sounding board beneath the open sky and in it was the tall figure of a young friar preaching it seemed with extraordinary fervour Around the pulpit beyond it and on all sides to an immense distance so far as he could see stretched the heads of an incalculable multitude dead silent and beyond them again trees green against a blue summer sky The Dawn of All. By Robert Hugh Benson,2016-05-24 Robert Hugh Benson 18 November 1871 19 October 1914 was an English Anglican priest who in 1903 was received into the Roman Catholic Church in which he was ordained priest in 1904 He was lauded in his own day as one of the leading figures in English literature having written the notable novel Lord of the World 1907 Benson was the youngest son of Edward White Benson Archbishop of Canterbury and his wife Mary and the younger brother of Edward Frederic Benson and A C Benson 1 Benson was educated at Eton College and then studied classics and theology at Trinity College Cambridge from 1890 to 1893 2 In 1895 Benson was ordained a priest in the Church of England by his father who was the then Archbishop of Canterbury After his father died suddenly in 1896 Benson was sent on a trip to the Middle East to recover his own health While there he began to question the status of the Church of England and to consider the claims of the Roman Catholic Church His own piety began to tend toward the High Church tradition and he started exploring religious life in various Anglican communities eventually obtaining permission to join the Community of the Resurrection Benson made his profession as a member of the community in 1901 at which time he had no thoughts of leaving the Church of England As he continued his studies and began writing however he became more and more uneasy with his own doctrinal position and on 11 September 1903 he was received into the Catholic Church He was awarded the Dignitary of Honour of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre Benson was ordained as a Roman Catholic priest in 1904 and sent to Cambridge He continued his writing career along with his ministry as a priest Like both his brothers Edward Frederic Benson Fred and Arthur Christopher Benson Robert wrote many ghost and horror stories collected in The Light Invisible 1903 and A Mirror of Shallott 1907 His novel Lord of the World 1907 is generally regarded as one of the first modern dystopias see List of dystopian literature As a young man Benson recalled he had rejected the idea of marriage as quite inconceivable Benson was appointed a supernumerary private chamberlain to the Pope in 1911 and consequently styled as Monsignor Dawn of All Robert Hugh Benson,2018-07-25 Dawn of All By Robert Hugh Benson The Dawn of All Robert-Hugh Benson,2018-08-13 The Dawn of All was first published in 1911 The Dawn of All is a book by an English writer and a Catholic priest Robert Hugh Benson. The Dawn of All is in many respects a companion piece, a thematic complement to the earlier book Lord of the World for in it Benson again imagines a global future but in this case the power balance is reversed: the Church is ascendant, nearly the whole population of the earth has been converted to Christianity and its truths are taken for granted in all spheres of life. The most famous work by Robert Hugh Benson is Lord of the World. Dawn of All, 2015-05-14 Dawn of All from Benson Robert Hugh English Anglican priest who joined the Roman Catholic Church 1871-1914 The Dawn of All (1911). By: Robert Hugh Benson Robert Hugh Benson, 2017-11-06 In a former book called Lord of the World I attempted to sketch the kind of developments a hundred years hence which I thought might reasonably be expected if the present lines of what is called modern thought were only prolonged far enough and I was informed repeatedly that the effect of the book was exceedingly depressing and discouraging to optimistic Christians. In the present book I am attempting also in parable form, not in the least to withdraw anything that I said in the former but to follow up the other lines instead and to sketch again in parable the kind of developments about sixty years hence which I think may reasonably be expected should the opposite process begin and ancient thought which has stood the test of centuries and is in a very remarkable manner being rediscovered by persons even more modern than modernists be prolonged instead. We are told occasionally by moralists that we live in very critical times by which they mean that they are not sure whether their own side will win or not. In that sense no times can ever be critical to Catholics since Catholics are never in any kind of doubt as to whether or no their side will win. But from another point of view every period is a critical period since every period has within itself the conflict of two irreconcilable forces. It has been for the sake of tracing out the kind of effects that it seemed to me each side would experience in turn should the other at any rate for a while become dominant that I have written these two books. Robert Hugh Benson AFSC KC SG KGCHS 18 November 1871-19 October 1914 was an English Anglican priest who in 1903 was received into the Roman Catholic Church in which he was ordained priest in 1904. He was a prolific writer of fiction and wrote the notable dystopian novel Lord of the World (1907). His output encompassed historical horror and science fiction, contemporary fiction, children's stories, plays, apologetics, devotional works and articles. He continued his writing career at the same time as he progressed through the hierarchy to become a Chamberlain to the Pope in 1911 and subsequently titled Monsignor. Early life Benson was the youngest son of Edward White Benson, Archbishop of Canterbury, and his wife Mary, and the younger brother of Edward Frederic Benson and A. C. Benson. Benson was educated at Eton College and then studied classics and theology at Trinity College, Cambridge, from 1890 to 1893. In 1895 Benson was ordained a priest in the Church of England by his father, who was the then Archbishop of Canterbury. Career After his father died suddenly in 1896 Benson was sent on a trip to the Middle East to recover his own health. While there he began to question the status of the Church of England and to consider the claims of the Roman Catholic Church. His own piety began to tend toward the High Church tradition and he started exploring religious life in various Anglican communities eventually obtaining permission to join the Community of the Resurrection
