

DBQ 14: Decolonization and Revolution: 1945-1975
(Adapted from Document-Based Assessment for Global History, World Education)

Historical Context: Following World War II, there were major independence movements, as well as revolutions, to change the leadership of countries such as India, Vietnam, Cuba, China, and Ghana. Kwame Nkrumah said “This wind of change blowing through Africa . . . is a raging hurricane against which the old order cannot stand. . . . Thus we have witnessed the greatest awakening ever seen on the earth of oppressed and exploited peoples against the powers that have kept them in subjection. This, without a doubt, is the most significant happening of the twentieth century.” At the same time in Cuba and China, Fidel Castro and Mao Zedong were leading revolutions to change their countries. Strong leaders shaped the movements for independence and change.

Part A: The following documents provide information about revolutions and the independence movements that swept the world after World War II. Examine the documents carefully, and answer the questions that follow.

Document 1: This excerpt, from the “Declaration Against Colonialism,” was adopted by the United Nations in 1960.

The General Assembly, Mindful of the determination proclaimed by the peoples of the world in the Charter of the United Nations to reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person . . . Solemnly proclaims the necessity of bringing to a speedy and unconditional end colonialism in all its forms . . . And to that end Declares that

The subjection of peoples to alien subjugation, domination and exploitation . . . is contrary to the Charter of the United Nations and is an impediment to the promotion of world peace and co-operation.

All peoples have the right to self-determination; by virtue of that right they freely determine their political status and freely pursue their economic, social and cultural development.

Question: What is the main idea of this U.N. declaration?

Document 2: The following is an excerpt from Ho Chi Minh, a Vietnamese nationalist.

The whole Vietnamese people, animated by a common purpose, are determined to fight to the bitter end against any attempt by the French colonialists to re-conquer the country.

Question: Describe the method Ho Chi Minh recommended to the Vietnamese people.

Document 3:

A. Mohandas Gandhi describes his method for fighting for Indian independence.

Passive [nonviolent] resistance is a method of securing rights by personal suffering; it is the reverse of resistance by arms. . . . If I do not obey the law and accept the penalty for its breach [breaking] I use violence. It involves a sacrifice of self.

B. In describing the Salt March, in which he used passive resistance, Gandhi said the following:

If the weakening of the people in the country is true and real, the salt law is a good as abolished. Draining a lamp of oil! With this, I am shaking the foundations of the British Empire.

Question: Describe the method recommended by Gandhi to the Indian people. What was Gandhi's goal?

Document 4: These are the words of Nelson Mandela as he fights for the end of apartheid in South Africa.

During my lifetime I have dedicated myself to the struggle of the African People. I have cherished the ideal of a democratic and free society in which all persons live together in harmony and with equal opportunities. It is an ideal which I hope to live for and to achieve. But, if needs be, it is an ideal for which I am prepared to die.

The Revolution Will Be a Poetic Act Mário Pinto de Andrade, 2024-08-26 This book is a collection of essays and speeches by Mário Pinto de Andrade the Angolan literary critic cultural theorist and political activist and one of Africa's most important 20th century intellectuals. His writings think through the task of intellectual emancipation of colonized people which he saw as predicated on the necessary project of political decolonization. As anti-colonial movements got underway, Andrade wrote extensively about the urgent necessity for Africans to turn away from European cultural and political models, arguing that communities emerging from colonization should focus on voices from within the designated communities on self-representation and on horizontal relationships among Black African and decolonizing peoples. Andrade played a key role in theorizing the international reach of the revolutionary 20th century poetry and literature. Black cultural vindication and African liberation. In his ethical commitment to moving away from focusing solely on the relationship between the colonial occupier and the colonized, he instead promoted ideas and actions that would construct mutual understanding among decolonizing communities. Andrade's work offers models to rethink race and nation as analytic categories and is particularly relevant not only to scholars of African decolonization movements but to anyone engaged in contemporary conversations about race, belonging, and political community.

Toward the African Revolution Frantz Fanon, 2022-09-27. This powerful collection of articles, essays, and letters spans the period between Black Skin White Masks (1952) and The Wretched of the Earth (1961). Fanon's landmark manifesto on the psychology of the colonized and the means of empowerment necessary for their liberation. These pieces display the genesis of some of Fanon's greatest ideas, ideas that became so vital to the leaders of the American civil rights movement.

Decolonization Prasenjit Duara, 2004. Brings together the most cutting-edge thinking by major historians of decolonization to create a groundbreaking study of a subject central to recent global history.

Decolonisation David Boucher, Ayesha Omar, Christopher Allsobrook, Camilla Boisen, Ndumiso Dladla, Sule Emmanuel Egya, Michael Elliott, Steven Friedman, Amber Murrey, Paul Patton, Chris Saunders, Ian S. Spears, 2023-10-01. Offers a comparative analysis of the processes and aftermath of decolonisation from philosophical, historical, literary, and legal perspectives.

Decolonisation DAVID BOUCHER; AYESHA OMAR; CHRISTOPHER ALLSOBROOK., 2023. Multidisciplinary scholars showcase their search for decolonial strategies from within their disciplinary focus, covering ideas such as the different layers at which colonialism operates, strategies for a decolonisation that does not recolonise, and the importance of preserving and publishing in indigenous languages.

Decolonization Pierre Singaravélou, Karim Miské, Marc Ball, 2023-01-03. Full of gripping historical vignettes and evocative photographs, an accessible overview of the dynamic figures who resisted colonization from India, Senegal, and Algeria to Vietnam, Kenya, and Congo. Decolonization started on the very first day of colonization. From the arrival of the Europeans, the peoples of Africa and Asia rose up. No one willingly accepts subjugation, but in order to one day regain freedom, you first and foremost need to stay alive. Faced with the Europeans' machine guns, the colonized hit back in other ways: from civil disobedience to communist revolution, by way of soccer and literature. It was a struggle marked by infinite patience and unlimited determination, fought by heroic men and women now largely unknown. Condensing a wealth of scholarly research into short, lively chapters.

Decolonization brings their extraordinary stories to light Manikarnika Tambe the Indian queen who led her troops into battle against the British Mary Nyanjiru the Kenyan activist who spearheaded a protest in Nairobi Lamine Senghor the Senegalese infantryman who became an anti colonial militant in Paris and many more With them a current of resistance swept the world culminating in the independence of almost all the colonies in the 1960s But at what price In the atomic India of Indira Gandhi in the Congo subjected to Mobutu s dictatorship or in a London shaken by the rioting of young immigrants we can see just how crucial it is that we understand and learn from this painful history
