

Final Essay is Happening: What is Causality and the Causal Chain?

1. What would someone with this epistemology be able to do? What are the limitations of reasoning via a causal chain alone?
2. The underlying problem with causationism and Hume's "system." What is the problem about causationism as a system, beyond the idea that causationism is just a restatement of Hume's previous (non-SCN) argument?
3. The CMC-challenge. What are the problems Hume's story are? How does the causal example of the 1774-1775 argument fail? Is the question of the causal example and how does it fail? What are the reasons why the causal example failed in Hume's 1774-1775 argument?
4. Consider the following CMC argument: "Causation is a different problem involving causal relations." What is the problem? What is the problem?
5. What would be the response to the question: "What is the problem of the causal example?"
