The African-Americanization of the Black Diaspora in Globalization or the Contemporary Capitalist World-System Paul C. Mocombe, Carol Tomlin, Christine Callender, 2016-11-16 This work sets forth the argument that in the age of neoliberal globalization black people around the world are ever so slowly becoming African Americanized They are integrated and embourgeoised in the racial class dialectic of black America by the material and ideological influences of the Protestant ethic and the spirit of capitalism as promulgated throughout the diaspora by two social class language games of the black American community the black underclass Hip Hop culture speaking for and representing black youth practical consciousness and black American charismatic liberal conservative bourgeois Protestant preachers like TD Jakes Creflo Dollar etc speaking for and representing the black bourgeois educated professional and working classes Although on the surface the practical consciousness and language of the two social class language games appear to diametrically oppose one another the authors argue given the two groups material wealth within the Protestant ethic and the spirit of capitalism of corporate neoliberal America they do not Both groups have the same underlying practical consciousness subjects agents of the Protestant Ethic and the spirit of capitalism The divergences where they exist are due to their interpellation embourgeoisement and differentiation via different ideological apparatuses of the society church and education i e schools for the latter and prisons the streets and athletic and entertainment industries for the former Contemporarily in the age of globalization and neoliberalism both groups have become the bearers of ideological and linguistic domination in black neoliberal America and are antagonistically converging the practical consciousness of the black or African diaspora towards their respective social class language games We are suggesting that the socialization of other black people in the diaspora ought to be examined against and within the dialectical backdrop of this class power dynamic and the cultural and religious heritages of the black American people responsible for this phenomenon or process of convergence we are referring to as the African Americanization of the black diaspora Religion, Law and Society Russell

Sandberg,2014-05-08 What can lawyers and sociologists learn from each other about religion in the twenty first century

Black Assimilationism in Neoliberal Globalization Paul C. Mocombe,Carol Tomlin,Ericcson T. Mapfumo,2024-04-15 This work highlights the Black American community s transition from a pathological pathogenic community to an intersectional one a model which dominates the contemporary global order The work posits that the constitution of Black American communities and their identities have been the product of their relations to the means and mode of production within the Protestant Ethic and the spirit of capitalism Contemporarily their integration is marked by their transition from a pathological pathogenic community to a neoliberal intersectional one dominated by their youth athletes women and queer members Their images and practices especially those of the working class overrepresented in the media industrial complex are then used instruments of capitalism i e rentier oligarchs to assimilate other Black people into the structure and processes of the neoliberal global order under American hegemony in order to generate surplus value The Soul-less Souls of Black Folk Paul C. Mocombe,2008-12-24 Since the 1960s there have been two schools of thought on the origins and nature of black consciousness the adaptive vitality school and the pathological pathogenic school The latter argues that in its divergences from white American norms and values black American consciousness is nothing more than a pathological form of and reaction to American consciousness rather than a dual both African and American counter hegemonic opposing identity in differential the term is Gayatri Spivak s to the American one Proponents of the adaptive vitality school argue that the divergences are not pathologies but African institutional transformations preserved on the American landscape The purpose of this work is to understand black consciousness by working out the theoretical and methodological problems from which these two divergent schools are constructed in order to arrive at a more sociohistorical rather than racial understanding of black consciousness Using a variant of structuration theory to account for the sociohistorical development of black consciousness formation within the American social structure author Paul Mocombe concludes that black American life is dual and pathological only in relation to a particular interpretive community the black bourgeoisie or liberal middle class

The Craft of Research, Third Edition Wayne C. Booth, Gregory G. Colomb, Joseph M. Williams, 2009-05-15 With more than 400 000 copies now in print The Craft of Research is the unrivaled resource for researchers at every level from first year undergraduates to research reporters at corporations and government offices Seasoned researchers and educators Gregory G Colomb and Joseph M Williams present an updated third edition of their classic handbook whose first and second editions were written in collaboration with the late Wayne C Booth The Craft of Research explains how to build an argument that motivates readers to accept a claim how to anticipate the reservations of readers and to respond to them appropriately and how to create introductions and conclusions that answer that most demanding question So what The third edition includes an expanded discussion of the essential early stages of a research task planning and drafting a paper The authors have revised and fully updated their section on electronic research emphasizing the need to distinguish between trustworthy sources such as those found in libraries and less reliable sources found with a quick Web search A chapter on warrants has also been thoroughly reviewed to make this difficult subject easier for researchers Throughout the authors have preserved the amiable tone the reliable voice and the sense of directness that have made this book indispensable for anyone undertaking a research project

The Making of the Constitution of Kenya Charles O. Oyaya, Nana Poku, 2018-05-11 Kenya like the rest of Africa has gone through three sets of constitutional crises The first related to the trauma of colonialism and struggle for independence The second a period of constitutional dictatorship and the clamor for reform The third most recent crisis being one of identity legitimacy and the inability of the state to discharge its functions which has resulted in civil unrest violent ethnic conflicts poverty social exclusion and inequality The Making of the Constitution of Kenya examines the processes issues and challenges of constitution making governance and legitimacy in that country and the lessons that can be learned for others on the continent Equipping the reader with a sound historical perspective on constitutional developments and the crisis of constitutional legitimacy in Kenya it gives an invaluable insight into the normative and political complexities involved in evolving a truly democratic and widely acceptable constitutional order in Africa
