

COMBINED ABS (Anti-lock Brake System)

SUMMARY

Combined ABS electronically controls both the synchronization of the front and rear brakes and also the ABS. This ensures the best braking distribution and control, and as a result improves control and stability.

The Combined ABS greatly differs from standard or other braking systems in that it incorporates brake-by-wire control. The Combined ABS control unit receives input from the brakes' master cylinders and both wheels' speed sensors and sends signals to the system's power units to apply the optimum braking force.

The system also monitors both the slip ratio of the front and rear wheels and the brake system input pressure to apply the correct ABS function when required.
