Canon Constitution and Canon Change in Children's Literature Bettina Kümmerling-Meibauer, Anja Müller, 2016-12-01 This volume focuses on the de canonization processes in children's literature considering the construction and cultural historical changes of canons in different children's literatures. Chapters by international experts in the field explore a wide range of different children's literatures from Great Britain, Germany, Scandinavia, the Low Countries, Eastern and Central Europe as well as from Non-European countries such as Australia, Israel and the United States. Situating the inquiry within larger literary and cultural studies conversations about canonicity, the contributors assess representative authors and works that have encountered changing fates in the course of canon history. Particular emphasis is given to sociological canon theories which have so far been underrepresented in canon research in children's literature. The volume therefore relates historical changes in the canon of children's literature not only to historical changes in concepts of childhood but to more encompassing political, social, economic, cultural and ideological shifts. This volume's comparative approach takes cognizance of the fact that if canon formation is an important cultural factor in nation building processes, a comparative study is essential to assessing transnational processes in canon formation. This book thus renders evident the structural similarities between patterns and strategies of canon formation emerging in different children's literatures.

Children's Literature and Transnational Knowledge in Modern China Shih-Wen Sue Chen, 2019-04-29 This book examines the development of Chinese children's literature from the late Qing to early Republican era. It highlights the transnational flows of knowledge, texts and cultures during a time when children's literature in China and the West was developing rapidly. Drawing from a rich archive of periodicals, novels, tracts, primers and textbooks, the author analyzes how Chinese children's literature published by Protestant missionaries and Chinese educators in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries presented varying notions of childhood. In this period of dramatic transition from the dynastic Qing empire to the new Republican China, young readers were offered different models of childhood, some of which challenged dominant Confucian ideas of what it meant to be a child. This volume sheds new light on a little explored aspect of Chinese literary history. Through its contributions to the fields of children's literature, book history, missionary history and translation studies, it enhances our understanding of the negotiations between Chinese and Western cultures that shaped the publication and reception of Chinese texts for children.

Constructing the Canon of Children's Literature Anne Lundin, 2004-10-15 In this pioneering historical study, Anne Lundin argues that schools, libraries, professional organizations and the media together create and influence the constantly changing canon of children's literature. Lundin examines the circumstances out of which the canon emerges and its effect on the production of children's literature. The volume includes a comprehensive list of canonical titles for reference.
