Re-envisioning Peacekeeping François Debrix, 1999 Time and again the United Nations has deployed peacekeeping missions in trouble spots around the globe Iraq Somalia Bosnia Rwanda Has peace ensured Have these missions in fact made any difference in the disorder and destruction they are purported to forestall Or are they as François Debrix contends an illusion more virtual peacekeeping than actual interventions in international affairs Re Envisioning Peacekeeping is a critical revisiting of UN interventions

Addressing the question How do UN peacekeeping missions shape the contemporary vision of international affairs the book applies the notions of simulation and ideology to the practice and theory of international organization Debrix focuses on the media strategies that give UN missions the appearance of effectiveness and that promote liberal ideologies of governance Debrix shows how the UN missions in Iraq Somalia and Bosnia attempted to simulate a landscape of ordered international politics a New World Order by disseminating visual renditions of peaceful intervention and humanitarian assistance As a result of these sometimes elaborate efforts Debrix finds the UN peacekeeping missions of the past decade represent a study in visual simulation which has nothing to do with actual matters of international life in the 1990s

Dementia, Narrative and Performance Janet Gibson, 2020-09-29 Focusing mainly on case studies from Australia and the United States of America this book considers how people with dementia represent themselves and are represented in theatre of the real productions and care home interventions assessing the extent to which the right kind of dementia story is being affirmed or challenged It argues that this type of story one of tragedy loss of personhood biomedical deficit and socio economic crisis produces dementia and the people living with it as much as biology does It proposes two novel ideas One is that the gaze of theatre and performance offers a reframing of some of the behaviours and actions of people with dementia through which deficit views can be changed to ones of possibility The other is that conversely dementia offers productive perspectives on theatre of the real Scanning contemporary critical studies about and practices of theatre of the real performances and applied theatre interventions the book probes what it means when certain theatre of the real practices specifically verbatim and autobiographical interact with storytellers considered culturally to be unreliable narrators It also explores whether autobiographical theatre is useful in reinforcing a sense of self for those deemed no longer to have one With a focus on the relationship between stories and selves the book investigates how selves might be rethought so that they are not contingent on the production of lucid self narratives consistent language and truthful memories

Learning Disability and Everyday Life Alex Cockain, 2024-03-29 Learning Disability and Everyday Life brings into conversation ideas from social theory with thick descriptions of the everyday life of a middle aged man with learning disabilities and autism This book is markedly ethnographic in its orientation to the gritty graininess of everyday life eating drinking walking cooking talking and so on in with and alongside learning disability However preoccupation with the small coexists with a gaze intent upon capturing a bigger picture to the extent that the things constituting everyday life are deployed as prisms through and with which to critically reflect upon the wider worlds of disability and everyday life Such attention to the small and the big the micro and the macro allows this book to explore the ordinary and everyday ways meanings about normalcy and abnormalcy ability and disability are put together enacted practised made up in the sense of constituting and fabricating and crucially accomplished through and between people in specific and invariably contingent sociocultural discursive and material conditions of possibility This book will be of specific interest not only to students and scholars of disability but also to persons with lived experiences of disability This book will also be of interest to students and scholars of anthropology and sociology

Lacan's Medievalism Erin Felicia Labbie, One of the foundational premises of Jacques Lacan s psychoanalytical project was that the history of philosophy concealed the history of desire and one of the goals of his work was to show how desire is central to philosophical thinking In Lacan s Medievalism Erin Felicia Labbie demonstrates how Lacan s theory of desire is bound to his reading of medieval texts She not only alters the relationship between psychoanalysis and medieval studies but also illuminates the ways that premodern and postmodern epochs and ideologies share a concern with the subject the unconscious and language thus challenging notions of strict epistemological cuts Lacan s psychoanalytic work contributes to the medieval debate about universals by revealing how the unconscious relates to the category of the real By analyzing the systematic adherence to dialectics and the idealization of the hard sciences Lacan s Medievalism asserts that we must take into account the play of language and desire within the unconscious and literature in order to understand the way that we know things in the world and the manner in which order is determined Erin Felicia Labbie is assistant professor of English at Bowling Green State University
