Culture Development And Social Theory Towards An Integrated Social Development:

Culture, Development and Social Theory John Clammer, 2013-10-10 This important book places culture back at the centre of debates in development studies. It introduces new ways of conceptualizing culture in relation to development by linking development studies to cultural studies, studies of social movements, religion, and the notion of social suffering. The author expertly argues that in the current world crises, it is necessary to recover a more holistic vision of development that creates a vocabulary linking more technical and predominantly economic aspects of development with more humanistic and ecological goals. Any conception of post-capitalist society, he argues, requires cultural as well as economic and political dimensions.

Indian and Western Philosophical Concepts in Religion Pankaj Jain, Jeffery D. Long, 2022-12-19 Philosophical concepts are influential in the theories and methods to study the world religions. Even though the disciplines of anthropology and religious studies now encompass communities and cultures across the world, the theories and methods used to study world religions and cultures continue to be rooted in Western philosophies. For instance, one of the most widely used textbooks used in introductory courses on religious studies introduces major theoreticians such as Edward Burnett Tylor, James Frazer, Sigmund Freud, Emile Durkheim, Karl Marx, Max Weber, Mircea Eliade, William James, E. E. Evans Pritchard, and Clifford Geertz. Their theories are based on Western philosophy. In contrast, in Indic philosophical systems such as Buddhism, Hinduism, and Jainism, one of the common views on reality is that the world, both within one self and outside, is a flow with nothing permanent both the observer and the observed undergoing constant transformation This volume is based on such innovative ideas coming from different Indic philosophies and how they can enrich the theory and methods in religious studies management Small Farmers for Global Food Security Thomas Reuter, Graeme MacRae, 2024-04-05 Food systems in Indonesia and worldwide have experienced major transformations in the wake of agricultural modernisation. Once intact eco systems have declined dramatically along with human diets, long term food security and social cohesion. Using long term ethnographic research we documented this loss of traditional food systems in Java, Bali, East Timor and India but also a recent revival and reinvention of sustainable production methods and community based distribution systems. A growing movement of small farmers now reject the dominant paradigm of aggressive capitalist development and are re-creating food systems based on moral ecology, a new concept we introduce to characterise food systems that regenerate the natural environment and serve the common good rather than maximise profit. Small farmers like these already feed two thirds of humanity using only a third of agricultural land. With proper support we argue they could feed the entire world using sustainable and socially responsible approaches to eradicate world hunger Pragmatism, Spirituality and Society Ananta Kumar

V. Vijayan. It also explores dialogues between pragmatism and other philosophical and intellectual traditions such as Semiotics, Saiva Siddhanta, Vedanta, Trika, Shaivism and Tantra.
