Catriona Robert Louis Stevenson:

Catriona Robert Louis Stevenson, 2015-11-03 This volume contains Robert Louis Stevenson's 1893 novel Catriona. It is a sequel to his previous novel Kidnapped and continues the story of David Balfour. In the first part of the novel Balfour attempts to gain justice for James Stewart who has been arrested and charged with complicity in the Appin Murder. Another kidnapping however foils his plans. This book constitutes a must read for those who have enjoyed Kidnapped and it would make for a great addition to collections of Stevenson's seminal work. Robert Louis Balfour Stevenson 1850-1894 was a famous Scottish essayist, novelist, poet, and travel writer. Some of his best known works include Treasure Island and The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde. Many vintage texts such as this are increasingly scarce and expensive, and it is with this in mind that we are republishing this book now in an affordable, high-quality modern edition. It comes complete with a specially commissioned biography of the author.

It is the fate of sequels to disappoint those who have waited for them, and my David having been left to kick his heels for more than a lustre in the British Linen Company's office must expect his late re-appearance to be greeted with hoots if not with missiles. Yet when I remember the days of our explorations I am not without hope. There should be left in our native city some seed of the elect, some long-legged hot-headed youth must repeat to-day our dreams and wanderings of so many years ago; he will relish the pleasure which should have been ours to follow among named streets and numbered houses, the country walks of David Balfour to identify Dean and Silvermills and Broughton and Hope Park and Pilrig and poor old Lochend if it still be standing, and the Figgate Whins if there be any of them left, or to push on a long holiday so far afield as Gillane or the Bass. So perhaps his eye shall be opened to behold the series of the generations, and he shall weigh with surprise his momentous and nugatory gift of life. You are still as when first I saw you, as when I last addressed you in the venerable city which I must always think of as my home. And I have come so far, and the sights and thoughts of my youth pursue me, and I see like a vision the youth of my father and of his father, and the whole stream of lives flowing down there far in the north with the sound of laughter and tears to cast me out in the end as by a sudden freshet on these ultimate islands. And I admire and bow my head before the romance of destiny.
