Cuba Hugh Thomas, 2002-11-01 First published in 1971 Cuba The Pursuit of Freedom is still one of the most important and authoritative books on this country Now reissued with stunning new jacket and edited contents At the climax of the Cuban missile crisis in 1962 the population of the Northern Hemisphere risked extinction Two hundred years earlier Cuba whose position in the Caribbean was the military key to the New World was similarly the storm centre of the Seven Years War between England France and Spain Hugh Thomas's book explores the whole sweep of Cuban history from the English capture of Havana in 1762 through the years of Spanish and United States domination down to the twentieth century and the extraordinary revolution of Fidel Castro So much that seems obscure in the present Cuban scene Hugh Thomas writes becomes more comprehensible if set against the experiences of the previous four or five generations Accordingly throughout this two hundred year period the author relates the political economic and social events of Cuba in particular he

From Lenin to Castro, 1917-1959 Mervyn J. Bain, 2013-05-09 This book addresses the relationship between Moscow and Havana in the period between the Russian and Cuban Revolutions i.e. from November 1917 to January 1959 It analyzes the reasons why in this era before the Cuban Revolution which is traditionally thought to have ignited Moscow's interest in the Caribbean island a relationship existed between the two countries at a variety of different levels In order to do this both the attention that the Third International or Comintern gave to Cuba as well as Moscow's formal state to state relations with Havana are examined In addition United States policy towards both socialism and the Soviet Union are analyzed due to the role that Washington played in Cuba prior to the Cuban Revolution Following this an examination of the events process and dynamics that characterized the nature of the relationship between Moscow and Havana from 1917 to 1959 will be conducted A number of conclusions will be given but the primary one is that prior to January 1959 the Kremlin took considerable interest in Cuba and did not suffer from geographical fatalism as has traditionally been thought This is significant in itself but also in light of the relationship that rapidly developed between Moscow and Havana in the aftermath of the Cuban Revolution as a number of factors that were important in the pre 1959 relationship would also be significant after 1959 Furthermore this analysis is also important for the contemporary bilateral relationship between Russia and Cuba as both governments have made increasing reference to the multifaceted relationship that existed prior to 1959
