Level of Difficulty	Estimated Duration	Prerequisites
☐ Beginner ☒ On-Level ☐ Above On-Level	0-30 minutes	Distinct None Overlapping Grades 10-12: Exploring Computer Science or Integrated Math I

Course Description

AP Computer Science Principles introduces you to the foundations of computer science with a focus on how computing powers the world. Along with the fundamentals of computing, you will learn to analyze data, create technology that has a practical impact, and gain a broader understanding of how computer science impacts people and society.

The major areas of study in the AP Computer Science Principles course are organized around seven big ideas, which are essential to studying computer science.

Big Idea 1: Creativity

Computing is a creative activity. In this course, you will use the tools and techniques of computer science to create interesting and relevant digital artifacts (e.g., a video, animation, infographic, music recording or program) with characteristics that are enhanced by computation.

Big Idea 2: Abstraction

In computer science, abstraction is a central problem-solving technique. In this course, you will use abstraction to model the world and communicate with people as well as with machines.

Big Idea 3: Data and Information

Data and information facilitate the creation of knowledge. Managing and interpreting an overwhelming amount of raw data is part of the foundation of our information society and technology. In this course, you will work with data using a variety of computational tools and techniques to better understand the many ways in which data is transformed into information and knowledge.

Big Idea 4: Algorithms

Algorithms are used to develop and execute solutions to computational problems. They are fundamental to most of the major topics in this field. In this course, you will work with algorithms in many ways. You will develop and evaluate original algorithms, implement algorithms in a language, and analyze algorithms analytically and empirically.

Big Idea 5: Programming

Programming enables problem solving, human expression, and creation of knowledge. It results in the creation of software, and it facilitates the creation of computational artifacts, including music, images, and animations. In this course, you will be introduced to the fundamental concepts of programming that can be applied across a variety of projects and languages. You will create programs, translating human intention into computational artifacts.
