Community Service And Higher Learning Explorations Of The Caring Self:

Community Service and Higher Learning Robert A. Rhoads, 1997-07-24 In Community Service and Higher Learning Robert A Rhoads examines the experiences of students as they commit themselves to community service during their college years The author explores how a student s sense of self may be challenged through involvement in the lives of others within the context of community service relationships Central to his explorations of the self is the role caring plays as a source of self understanding and identity development Drawing upon classic symbolic interactionists such as George Herbert Mead as well as contemporary feminists such as Carol Gilligan and Nel Noddings Rhoads suggests ways in which the self might be reconsidered with an ethic of care philosophy at its core He argues that higher education ought to play a key role in fostering more relational and caring individuals and that community service offers a pedagogical opportunity for encouraging the development of more caring selves He maintains that as society becomes increasingly complex diverse and potentially fragmented caring becomes a more important facet of one s sense of self than perhaps ever before It is only through an increasing concern for the other the essence of caring that one is able to bridge the relational barriers posed by the postmodern condition

Peterson, Henrietta Williams, 2003 Decolonizing the Academy asserts that the academy is perhaps the most colonized space At the same time the academy is a place of knowledge and transformation As we move into the 21st century it is becoming clear that the academy is one of the primary sites for the production and reproduction of ideas that serve the interests of colonising powers This collection of essays argues the possibility of re engaging the decolonizing process at the level of knowledge and asserts that this is an ongoing project worthy of being undertaken in a variety of fields

Connecting Past and

Present Ira Harkavy, Bill M. Donovan, 2023-07-03 The question that animates volume 16th in the Service Learning in the Disciplines Series is Why connect service learning to history courses The contributors answer that question in different ways and illustrate and highlight a diversity of historical approaches and interpretations All agree however that they do their jobs better as teachers and in some cases as researchers by engaging their students in service learning An interesting read with a compelling case for the importance of history and how service learning can improve the historian's craft

Social Work and Service Learning Virginia Majewski, Meryl Nadel, Marilyn Sullivan-Cosetti, 2007-06-21 Service learning and social work education comprise an exciting yet underutilized partnership This book represents the first comprehensive overview of this active and empowering approach to learning in social work Both educators and practitioners will discover conceptual and practical guidance for developing productive community based projects Often envisioned as located at the midpoint on a continuum from volunteer work to internship service learning combines the opportunity to serve with the opportunity to learn It offers community agencies a chance to collaborate with academic colleagues to meet identified community needs frequently with an explicit social justice dimension The contributors illustrate how service learning facilitates students understanding and interacting with community members as partners not clients Service learning encourages students to use critical thinking skills to reflect on their work and its implications This combination of study action reflection in conjunction with course content is highly effective The book explores its subject from several perspectives The first section serves as a conceptual and theoretical orientation to service learning in social work The second section offers models that illustrate many ways of implementing service learning across the components of the social work curriculum The final two parts of the book focus on evaluation and service learning in the broader context of civic engagement

Service-Learning Pedagogy Virginia M. Jagla, Andrew Furco, Jean R. Strait, 2015-02-01 Service learning is a powerful method of teaching and learning that has been used effectively for more than two decades Its efficacy has been researched in a variety of ways and this volume continues to expand that research base In particular in this volume Service Learning Pedagogy How Does It Measure Up we explore three broad areas of service learning research and practice that reflect broader discussions of the role of pedagogy in today's educational reform efforts Teacher Education Crossing Boundaries Deepening Relationships in Service Learning and New Paradigms Conceptual Frameworks Many have called for more rigorous methods when researching service learning pedagogy That has been the major impetus for this volume We seek to generate knowledge regarding service learning pedagogy while developing theories about it We surface some elusive affective characteristics of the pedagogy which we know has the power to produce transformational learning To this end the authors who have contributed to this volume effectively add to the growing body of knowledge in the field and help us get closer to understanding the extent to which service learning does and does not measure up
