Comparative Risk Assessment and Environmental Decision Making Igor Linkov, Abou Bakr Ramadan, 2006-03-02 Decision making in environmental projects is typically a complex and confusing process characterized by trade offs between socio political environmental and economic impacts Comparative Risk Assessment CRA is a methodology applied to facilitate decision making when various activities compete for limited resources CRA has become an increasingly accepted research tool and has helped to characterize environmental profiles and priorities on the regional and national level CRA may be considered as part of the more general but as yet quite academic field of multi criteria decision analysis MCDA Considerable research in the area of MCDA has made available methods for applying scientific decision theoretical approaches to multi criteria problems but its applications especially in environmental areas are still limited The papers show that the use of comparative risk assessment can provide the scientific basis for environmentally sound and cost efficient policies strategies and solutions to our environmental challenges

Environmental Security and Environmental Management: The Role of Risk Assessment Benoit Morel, Igor Linkov, 2007-05-22 The concept of environmental security has emerged as one basis for understanding international conflicts This phrase can mean a variety of things It can signify security issues stemming from environmental concerns or conflicting needs or it can mean that the environment is treated as a resource for the long term and the question is what should be done today to preserve the quality of the environment in the future In the same way that energy security is about ensuring access to energy for the long run it can also mean that pressing environmental concerns create a situation where different countries and communities are forced to collaboratively design a unified response even if cooperation is not generally in the logic of their relations Over the last several years the authors of this book and their colleagues have tried to demonstrate the power of risk assessment and decision analysis as valuable tools that decision makers should use for a broad range of environmental problems including environmental security Risk analysis is almost more a state of mind or a way of looking at problems than it is a kind of algorithm or a set of recipes It projects a kind of rationality on problems and forces a certain degree of quantitative rigor as opposed to the all too common tendency of making environmental recommendations based on anecdotal evidence

Environmental Radiation Effects on Mammals Olga A. Smirnova, 2016-10-14 Dr Smirnova's updated text is devoted to the theoretical studies of radiation effects on mammals It summarizes 35 years of results the author obtained from analyzing dose rate equivalents for the Galactic Cosmic Rays GCR and for Solar Particles Events SPE This edition also includes two new chapters on skin epidermal epithelium and risk assessment for myeloid leukemia as well as extended revisions addressing the radiation effects on the blood forming system Mathematical models are used to explain the effects of both acute and chronic irradiation on the dynamics of vital body systems like the hematopoietic system the development of autoimmune diseases and the mortality dynamics in homogeneous and nonhomogeneous mammalian populations The proposed methodology of these studies the models themselves and the
